[joshuatreeclimb.com - Robert Fonda - Computer Whiz/Consultant - Robert is "The Man" when it comes to computers. His knowledge of computers, design, and web-building is off the charts. He's helped us with the way technical stuff that we can't figure out, and in the future, he can hopefully answer any questions, pick us up when we fall, and point us in the right direction. We wish we didn't need him so much, but Robert will probably be bailing us out and coming to our rescue time and time again in the future. His work and expertise are greatly appreciated.]

[May 29, 2016 - Robert Fonda passed away this AM at about 7:00 AM....rest in peace, ...Robert will be missed so much by his pals here in joshua tree....he was a big part of our lives here, and it's hard to wrap my mind around right now. A very sad day for the climbing community, Joshua tree, and planet earth. (..) I Wish I could give all of you better news, but the facebook message is correct. It was written by Roberts two brothers Ted and John, and myself on behalf of Roberts closest family. (..) died of Liver Cancer caused by Hepatitus C]

[Robert Fonda, a 53-year resident of California and a 17-year resident of Joshua Tree, died May 29, 2016, at Desert Regional Medical Center. He was 53 years old. The son of Elizabeth Blanchard and Robert C. Fonda Jr., he was born Feb. 22, 1963, in Bakersfield. He was a software and network engineer for 20-plus years, a rock climbing guide for 15 years and a solar power and home electrician and computer consultant for 10 years. He loved rock climbing, Joshua Tree National Park's Search & Rescue Team, playing guitar, music and sound engineering, all things computers and his good dogs. He was preceded in death by his father and grandparents. He is survived by his wife, Hilde Fonda, of Joshua Tree; his mother, Elizabeth Blanchard, of Burbank; and his brothers, John DeWitt, of San Jose, and Ted DeWitt, of Seal Rock, Oregon. Robert was much loved by friends from several communities, including climbers, IT, desert rats, musicians, solar power, construction and other walks across the U.S. and abroad. The family has been tremendously uplifted by an outpouring of fond, funny and touching memories and photos from friends and extended family. In the words of some of his many friends, "I have yet to meet a more foul-mouthed, brilliant and generous individual. I always enjoyed the days he would come into Nomads like a whirlwind and leave customers not knowing what just hit them but they always had a smile."..."I remember a winters morning at Trashcan Rock, and seeing Chaco tracks in the snow. Went on setting up for a navigation class and here comes Robert strolling across the desert wearing Chacos in the snow. Should have known."... "Thank you for showing me how the real world works, how the truth hurts and how it can be painful, but also to appreciate some aspects of life that some people just don't understand ... and never will." The family is very grateful to all who donated to help with his medical expenses. In lieu of flowers, we suggest that donations be made to the Desert Cancer Foundation or your favorite charity. Celebrations of Robert's life will occur but are not yet planned. Live long and prosper. 2016 Hi-Desert Star, June 2, 2016]

[Guida Fonda. "Guida is gone." And the rest of the story is . . . Guida Fonda peacefully passed away Oct. 29, 2020. She was born to Clarence and Myrtle Buffalow on Aug. 8, 1931, in Pueblo, where she spent the majority of her life, and in Tabernash, Colo., where her father operated a restaurant and tavern providing meals to the railroad crews. She married Arden Fonda in Pueblo and they had a son, Gary. Guida worked as a clerk for the Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad for over 30 years where she made many lifelong friends. She knew no strangers and was a generous friend to many. Her quick laugh and smile opened many doors and she was known to give the best insightful advice. Guida was preceded in death by her parents, Clarence and Myrtle Buffalow; her brother, Robert Buffalow; and her former husband, Arden Fonda. Survivors include Gary Fonda, Jan Fonda, David, Nicole and Zach Buffalow, Karen Fonda, Alan and Linda Hobson; and many cousins, extended family and friends. In lieu of flowers, if desired, please donate to Center Care Hospice in Guida's name. A Celebration of Life will be held in 2021 with date to be determined. [Frank Staats Fonda - April 8, 1937 - January 19, 2016 - Concord, CA - Frank Staats Fonda was born on April 8,1937 in Berkeley, CA. He served as a Coast Guard Reserve and was a Sacramento County Sheriff's officer. In 1966, he joined the Concord police department with five other officers and they became known as the Hollywood Squad. He rose to the rank of sergeant before retiring after 24 years. Frank's favorite place to be, though, was beside his beloved wife of fifty years, Patricia, his dog Max and his children, Richard Russell, Pamela Fonda, Susan Bell, preceded in death daughter Kimberly Fonda Davis. Frank loved his four grandchildren Jessica, Chase, Johnny & Kimee with all his heart and soul. He peacefully slipped away from us on January 19, 2016, after a joyous holiday season spent with his family. The family will be holding a Celebration of Life in honor of Frank on February 13, 2016 at 12:00am held at the Concord Police Academy. [Collamer Bandits Hunted - Three bandits were being hunted today after robbing a small Collamer grocery and folding a couple at gunpoint. The trio, their faces covered by silk stocking masks and blackened with burnt cork, last night eluded one of the largest roadblocks set up in Central New York. State Police said the men held Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Fonda at bay with two sawed-off shotguns while they robbed the store cash register of $40. Mrs. Fonda told troopers she was alone at 9:10 p.m. in the store located about one mile east of Collamer on Rt. 298. Her husband was in back cleaning pheasants. She said two men ran into the store and a third raced around back to cover her husband. Fonda, who heard his wife scream at sight of the gunmen, started into the store but was halted by one of the men. Fonda said the bandit pointed a shotgun at his stomach. After he was pushed inside the store, the proprietor and his wife stood side by side as the men worked with precision to execute the theft. Fonda said one of the men snarled: "Get back or I'll drop you". As one held the Fondas at gunpoint, a second gunman stood watch at the front door. The third scooped up the money. Mrs. Fonda told troopers one of the men tried to calm her by saying, "Don't worry, I'm not going to shoot you." After they had the money, Fonda said, two of the men raced toward their car. The third man backed out, holding his gun on the couple. The men were in their 20s, the Fondas told police. One was about five feet, nine inches tall, stocky and was wearing a black leather jacket.

Another was stocky and wore a yellow and black plaid shirt. The third was not identified. The couple agreed the trio appeared experienced, confident and showed no signs of nervousness. Within 20 minutes of the holdup, troopers, sheriff's deputies and city police had thrown up nearly 20 roadblocks. The bandits' success in evading the blocks was realized shortly after midnight when the getaway car was found in Wadsworth Park. The car, a 1950 tan and white sports coupe, was found by Patrolman G. E. Massett. The auto was stolen earlier and police believe the trio continued their fight in another stolen car. The recovered auto was brought to police headquarters where experts went over it for fingerprints and other clues. Authorities suspect the car was one of two stolen from Vocational High School, where hundreds of cars were parked during an adult education class session. During the peak of the manhunt, all available deputies, troopers and city police took up stations. City police converged on Thompson Rd. and covered intersections leading through Thompson Rd., from the city line as far as Erie Blvd. Other roadblocks were manned on roads leading to Fayetteville, Kirkville, Bridgeport and the Thruway. In addition, rarely used side roads were watched. The Fondas told police the bandits' stocking masks were knotted at the top, hampering identification. Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Fonda reported any bodily harm. They said though they lost $40 a larger sum was saved. Syracuse Herald Journal 1957-10-17]

[Stewart H. Fonda Jr. was born December 12, 1924, and grew up in Syracuse, NY. He enlisted in the Navy during World War II, and was stationed in Hawaii, where he was sent state side to Milwaukee, WI as an officer training candidate at Marquette University. He received a bachelor's degree in civil engineering, but, since the war had ended, was not commissioned. While in Milwaukee, Stu met Hazel at a USO dance and they were married on December 26, 1944. He took his wife Hazel and toddler son Stewart to Coulee Dam, WA, where he worked at his first job as an engineer with the Bureau of Reclamation installing a new power plant at the dam. While there, he was called up by the Navy, and served on the aircraft carrier USS Boxer during the Korean War. After the war, he moved to Detroit, MI to work with the US Army Corps of Engineers. He later transferred to the Chicago office, where he spent the bulk of his career on water projects for the Great Lakes. In the mid-1970s he joined the State Department as an engineering advisor to The International Joint Commission tasked with advising and monitoring projects which affected both Canada and the United States. He retired in 1979 to Parker, CO. During retirement, Stewart had an excessive amount of free time, so he took up real estate sales until he moved to Loveland, CO in 2008. Stewart's interests included serving as a Boy Scout troop master. At the time, his troop had more Eagle Scouts than any other troop in the Chicagoland area. He was also active in church activities. He enjoyed fishing, elk and deer hunting, skiing, hiking, dancing and taking long vacations by car. Stewart is survived by his sisters Ruth Lyke, Jane Winks and Janet Baum of Syracuse, NY, and brothers Howard Fonda of Syracuse and Clayton Fonda of Auburn, WA. He is also survived by his children Stewart Fonda III (Barbara) of Englewood, CO, David Fonda (Kathy) of Parker, CO, and Kathleen (Fonda) Gingery (husband Kevin) of Ft. Collins, CO. [Hazel Emma Violet (Blue) Fonda passed away in Loveland, Colorado on March 3, 2018. Hazel was born July 17, 1924 in Saskatchewan, Canada, where she lived until her family moved to Milwaukee, WI when she was a teenager. In 1950 Hazel became a citizen of the United States. During World War II, Hazel met Stewart H. Fonda Jr. at a USO function. They were married on December 26, 1944 and had 3 children. Hazel was a talented hostess and loved to host gatherings. Their home held many family barbeques and holiday meals, as well as dinners for friends and neighbors. She and her husband were members of Trinity Lutheran Church in Loveland. She had a big heart for serving others. She volunteered at church, Parent Teacher Association, the American Field Service (a foreign student exchange program), the Smithsonian Museum in Washington D.C., and several women's civic service groups. In Loveland, she continued her service at Good Samaritan Village by volunteering at the front office, greeting many residents and their families. [University of North Carolina [George Fonda, Sigma '63, from Cazenovia, New York, north of Philadelphia, joined Chi Psi the following year. He and Pete became close friends. They often drove north together to their respective hometowns for their breaks from academic chores. Tim recalls that "Pete in college was the all-American boy. He had (and still has) the appearance, smarts and athletic abilities one would admire??? He was - and is - a delight to be around, never taking himself seriously and always a gentleman in the highest traditions of Chi Psi and the Navy. Things came easily for Pete - particularly academics. He NEVER studied, but his grades were superb. I would struggle with my accounting exercises and he would be playing bridge or poker and blasting out Victory at Sea on the stereo." Fonda reports that his buddy loves to bet - on everything - and enjoys teasing him with bets even today. Bother George recounts one episode that typifies their relationship. On a day in 1961 as they started their spring-break drive home from the Lodge at 9 AM, Pete was to drive and offered to bet George that they would be in Richmond by Noon. George knew that it took more than three hours to reach Richmond, where they always checked their watches with the reliable clock tower on the Main Street Union Station, adjacent to U.S. Routes 1 and 301. George took the bet. When they had already been on the road for three and a half hours and still well short of Richmond, George was already planning on how to spend his apparent winnings. Thing took a different turn when they passed the station clock, which showed 11:45, although their watches registered 12:45. It was apparent that the railroad clock had not been advanced with arrival of Daylight Savings Time, a fact with which Pete was obviously aware. George says that Pete "grinned like a Cheshire Cat all the way to Philadelphia."]

[Fonda, Letitia "Tish" - August 15, 2008 Letitia "Tish" Fonda died on Friday, August 15, 2008, at her home on Marco Island, Florida. Her husband George Fonda and her daughter Heather Moore were at her side. Tish was born and raised in Sydney, Australia. She was 63 years old at the time of her death. George Fonda and his family were longtime residents of Cazenovia and the Syracuse area. When recently diagnosed with a reoccurrence of the melanoma first discovered and treated surgically in 1980, she chose to remain positive about her condition and took comfort in the fact that she had had a productive and rewarding life for the 28 years she continued to live. As Manager of Exhibits and Special Events for Comsat Corporation in Bethesda, Maryland, she was afforded the opportunity to travel extensively throughout the world and work with colleagues, many of whom became lifelong friends. She was able to see her daughter, Heather grow up, graduate from college, get married to Timothy Moore, and enjoy her two beautiful and handsome grandchildren, Sophia and Anthony. Her doctors in Naples, Florida marveled at her upbeat, positive attitude while treating her for this horrible terminal disease. Always beautifully dressed and adorned, she displayed great style, dignity, poise, and humor amongst them. They did all that could be done for her. She married Navy Lieutenant George Fonda in Sydney Australia in 1968, while he was stationed there with the Vietnam R & R office. She was able to return every year to Sydney, sometimes twice a year, to continue her very close friendship with her childhood friends. Graveside services will be held at the Woodlawn Cemetery in New York City and All Saints Church in Sydney, Australia at a time convenient to her family. In lieu of flowers, it is Tish's wish that those who would like to, make a contribution in her memory to the Marco Island Parks and Recreations Department, 1361 Andalusia Terrace, Marco Island, Florida 34145 USA]

It has 120 employees at five branch locations, and services 13 states through an outside sales staff of 17. John Day Co. also opened a safety division in 1997. Like most distributors, integrated supply is becoming more important, accounting for 30 percent of sales in the industrial division. At one point, the future was questionable at best. John Fonda recalls the day when there were eight houses in the Midwest similar to John Day Co. that split their time between the agriculture and industrial business. Slowly, they started to go out of business as implement dealers became fewer and fewer in the Midwest, and as the farming base shrank. At the same time, John Day Co. watched as pressures on margins continued. Today, John Day is one of the last remaining dual houses. "I'm not sure if they went into bankruptcy or if there was no one interested in taking over the businesses, but we were a family business and we wanted to stay in business and make a go of it," says John Fonda. "I credit my father (Jere) that he could see the industry was changing and that we would have to put people and technology in place for us to be successful through the 90s. He did a very good job of that and our new management team is responsible for taking us into 2000 and beyond."] >> www.fonda.org <<

Notes for Wanda Jean CAIRNCROSS: res. Upland, CA [Account established to benefit man whose conviction was overturned - Will Bigham, Staff Writer will.bigham@inlandnewspapers.com 10/25/2009 ONTARIO, CA - An Upland schoolteacher has established a bank account to benefit a man recently released from prison after a federal judge overturned his attempted-murder conviction. Though Rafael Madrigal calls freedom after nine years "unbelievable," his family has been hurting financially since the death of his father in January.(...) After learning of Madrigal's financial hardships, a middle school teacher who once taught Madrigal's oldest son set out to establish a bank account for people to donate to Madrigal's family. Wanda Fonda, a history teacher at Grace Yokley Middle School in Ontario, established the account last week and deposited the first $100. "If everybody just donates just a little bit to help them out it could help them stay in their home," said Fonda, 57. "And this happened through no fault of his own." Madrigal, 34, was convicted of attempted murder based on eyewitness testimony that he was involved in a July 2000 drive-by shooting in East Los Angeles. In overturning the conviction, a federal judge faulted Madrigal's trial attorney for failing to sufficiently prove Madrigal's seemingly ironclad alibi: he was at work at a Rancho Cucamonga factory at the time of the shooting. (...) "There's still a lot of good people in this world," Madrigal said. Madrigal said he was "speechless for the first five minutes" when he met Fonda last week. "I saw her two days ago in the bank when she was going through the whole process," Madrigal said in an interview Friday. "I couldn't thank her enough." "Even the smallest of help would be worth millions," Madrigal said. (...)] >> www.fonda.org <<

Middleburgh, NY; [Supplies still being stocked for flood victims - 4/11/2012 - Cobleskill, N.Y. -- "It was very earth-shattering," said Cobleskill resident Bettina Fonda. She'd just moved into the village in May, many of her family's belongings still in boxes in their basement when Tropical Storm Irene hit the area. "We lost a lot of the kids' things, we lost Christmas presents, a lot of our belongings, so we're slowly starting to replace these as time goes by," said Fonda. And for that, she goes to the old Guilford Mills warehouse where the not-for-profit organization Care for New York State has set up shop for flood victims to pick up much-needed supplies for free. (..) "My house would still be in shambles," said Fonda. "I would not be able to make my house comfortable for my kids. My kids would not be sleeping in their warm comfortable beds, with warm comfortable blankets, or have the clothes on their back." "Seeing her so happy makes us happy, and that's what we're here for," said Moore. (..) But Fonda says she leaves here with more than just new belongings; also with a feeling of normalcy. "It feels really good. It's like getting a piece of your life back, that we're not victims, we can survive," she said. http://hudsonvalley.ynn.com/content/top_stories/580146/supplies-still-being-stocked-for-flood-victims/] >> www.fonda.org <<

[Gloversville - A 39-year old widow and mother apparently shot herself to death Saturday after trying to kill a man friend in a bedroom of his home, authorities said yesterday. Sheriff's deputies said it appeared the woman used the same shotgun with which her husband killed himself last year. Dist. Atty. H Andrew Schlusberg said the wounding Saturday of Patrick Buanno, 45, and the death of Mrs. Philomena Fonda of nearby Johnstown apparently was a case of attempted murder and suicide. Buanno was reported in fair condition at Nathan Littauer hospital where he was undergoing treatment for shotgun wounds in the abdomen and right hand. Schlusberg said Buanno told police that Mrs. Fonda came to his home and entered his bedroom, carrying the shotgun. After a brief quarrel, he said, she shot him and he ran from the house to a brother's home across the street to call police. Police found Mrs. Fonda's body in the living room of Buanno's home. Schlusberg said it appeared that she had placed the shotgun under her chin and fired. The Fulton County sheriff's office said Mrs Fonda's husband, Melvin, killed himself in June 1962, apparently with the same gun. The couple had two teenaged sons. Utica NY Daily Press, Monday, September 2, 1963]; [...Mrs. Fonda was born in Fonda on Sept. 15, 1924, a daughter of Joseph and Irene Mezzio Conte and had lived in Johnstown since August of 1962. [Sugar Grove garage burns - Smyth County News & Messenger - Marion VA - January 21, 2003 - Fire broke out in a well-known Sugar Grove business Friday, Jan. 17, destroying the entire property and its contents. Bob's Garage, in business for five years at 5488 Sugar Grove Highway, began burning about 7 p.m. and smoldered all weekend, according to Smyth County Sheriff's Office Investigator B.C. "Chip" Shuler. Robert Fonda Sr., owner of Bob's Garage, apparently lost all his property in the fire, including tools he estimated to be worth $100,000, due to lack of renter's insurance. He has leased the building for many years from property owner Christine Blevins. "Five years' work gone in three hours," Fonda said Tuesday morning as he waited for investigators." I didn't know something you worked so long and hard on could disappear in a matter of minutes and hours." Fonda doesn't know what he'll do next. "People ask me that, but that's hard to answer. I'm still trying to get over what happened," he said. "People say, 'Aw, you'll move away now.' And I tell them, 'you're stuck with me. This is home for me." Home for Fonda used to be upstate New York, and he'd cut short visits to Tennessee to spend some time in Smyth County before moving to Sugar Grove's Quarter Branch Road and opening the garage. As he stood waiting for the investigators to arrive and sift through the remains of that garage, a neighbor ambled across the parking lot. With a chuckle Fonda called to the man. "No service work today."]

He won't move or even shower, and he's certainly not going to deliver toys for Christmas. But Mrs. Claus (DeAnna Bay) takes extreme measures to get him back at work. That is what awaits theatergoers with "Never the Sinner: The Leopold & Loeb Story," which Rarely Done Productions is introducing in its Central New York premiere. It was called "The Trial of the Century" when the twentysomethings of the title were charged with the brutal slaying of Bobby Franks, who was a cousin of Loeb. It was done as a lark in which Loeb persuaded Leopold to participate in return for sexual favors. Both youths were wealthy, so money had no part in the plot. Sex was what Leopold sought; Loeb sought fame, which could elevate him in the eyes of his mother, to whose apron strings he clung. The case brought out renowned attorney Clarence Darrow to battle with Chicago prosecutor Robert Crowe. The latter favored the death penalty; Darrow did not. Although Darrow is prominent, "Sinner" belongs to Rob Fonda as Leopold and David Simmons as Loeb. Their relationship simmers, boils over and then takes a new tack as the works progresses. Both actors are equal to the task, with chemistry crackling between the pair. (...) "Sinner" plays Fridays and Saturday through Oct. 21 at Jazz Central.] >> www.fonda.org <<

res. Renssalaer, NY; (Classmates.com: Vernon Fonda; Colonie Central High School, Albany, NY, 1995-1999); For Release: Friday, June 3, 2005 - Newest Class of ECOs, Forest Rangers and Park Police Graduate - 85 Recruits Completed 6th/16th Joint Basic Training Academy to Fill Ranks for DEC and OPRHP - New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) Acting Commissioner Denise M. Sheehan and Office of Parks, Recreation and Historic Preservation (OPRHP) Commissioner Bernadette Castro today announced the graduation of 41 Park Police Officers, 32 Environmental Conservation Officers (ECOs) and 12 Forest Rangers from the Joint Training Academy on Friday, June 3, 2005 at State University of New York (SUNY) at Oswego. The training academy was the 6th Basic Academy for OPRHP and the 16th for DEC. The following is a list of DEC graduates and their home towns: ECO Vernon V. Fonda of Rensselaer - Central Suffolk - Zone 2 ; [From the August 2007 Conservationist - ECO on Patrol By Lt. Ken Didion - Lightning Strikes-Suffolk County - ECOs Vernon Fonda and Jason Curinga were checking fishermen at a popular spot in Shoreham as a thunderstorm approached. The officers had separated in order to complete their checks before the storm arrived. ECO Fonda was talking with a fisherman when a person ran toward him screaming for help. ECO Fonda ran to where he saw a woman lying on the ground. The womans family members said she had been standing in the water when lightning struck nearby. A quick check revealed that the woman was not breathing and did not have a pulse. Officer Fonda immediately began CPR and the woman began to breathe on her own. When ECO Curinga arrived to assist, the woman lost her pulse and ceased breathing again. ECO Fonda resumed CPR, assisted by an EMT who had just arrived. The two rescuers revived the woman, and she was transported by helicopter to Stony Brook Hospital. http://www.dec.ny.gov/pubs/39320.html]>> www.fonda.org <<

[Tuesday, September 26, 2006 - PoughkeepsieJournal.com - Reverend, friends ready to adopt a block again - The Rev. Marlow Dunham is once again employing what he calls his "Ready, Fire, Aim!" strategy. About six months ago, Marlow and some of his parishioners from the River Church in the City of Poughkeepsie showed up, more or less unannounced, in a neighborhood on the city's north side, threw an all-day party and announced they were there to help the residents in whatever way they could. The event was Poughkeepsie's first installment of a nationwide program called Adopt-a-Block. [...] "To see the defenses come down on both sides as we get to know each other, that's really been rewarding," said city resident Liz Fonda, a River Church member who attended the first block party. [...] Fonda, who was one of the chief cooks at the first party, said she planned to be wielding her spatula again next month. "Last time, we cooked about 400 hamburgers and hot dogs," she said. "This time we're planning for about 1,500." Her husband, Steve, who has used his skills as a carpenter to do some repairs in the neighborhood, said Adopt-a-Block had been one of the more gratifying projects he'd ever participated in. "I've fixed a few porches and gates for people who didn't have the resources to do it themselves," he said. "I didn't have much when I was younger. I know how it feels. Now that I'm doing better, I'm glad to help people who are still struggling."]

[Friday, November 3, 2006 - PoughkeepsieJournal.com - What's new - Mortgage firm opens Fishkill branch - Alliance Mortgage Banking Corp. has opened a branch at 2 Summit Court Suite 103 in Fishkill. The office, run by sisters Elizabeth Fonda and Kathleen Regan, offers conventional mortgages as well as Federal Housing Administration mortgages to customers with all kinds of credit histories. Fonda said personal interaction is crucial to customer satisfaction. "As we see the Internet business explode, so many customers deal with out-of-state agents, and when it gets to the closing, they aren't getting what they asked for. The accountability is lost," Fonda said. The branch has six full-time employees, all local residents. It opened officially Aug. 14, Fonda said. Alliance Mortgage Banking Corporation, founded 28 years ago, is a national company with offices in 32 states. Its headquarters are in Levittown, Nassau County. Regan said the company tries to maintain a local feel. "It's a family business, and we treat people like family," she said. The Fishkill office is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., but appointments can be made outside of regular hours. On Nov. 14, the Poughkeepsie Area Chamber of Commerce will hold a ribbon-cutting ceremony with food and refreshments from 4-6 p.m.]

KDP officials arrested Robert Alleva, Michael Fonda, Alexandre de Ponte and Russian YPG fighter Semyonov as they were returning to their home countries. Michael Fonda stated that he is from Centreville, Virginia, and his name in Rojava was Demhat irvan. Fonda fought in the US army in Iraq and wanted to join YPG in order to fight against ISIS and liberate Kurdish and Arab towns from ISIS occupation. After being released as a result of the diplomatic efforts of the American Embassy in Hewler (Erbil), Fonda reported that KDP officials held them in the same prison cell with ISIS gangs for 23 days despite the fact that they had told the officials about their membership in YPG. Fonda ended his statements by criticizing the Turkish government's collaboration with ISIS, and called upon KDP officials to treat better those who were fighting against ISIS. Robert Alleva is another YPG fighter from the US, and stayed in Rojava for three months to fight against ISIS. Alleva stated that after their arrests, KDP officials told them that they would soon be sent home but the 4 foreign YPG fighters were kept in the same cell with ISIS gangs in a prison in Hewlr (Erbil) for 23 days. Alleva said that KDP wanted to set up an example with their imprisonment, and called upon KDP to not treat foreign YPG fighters the way they had been treated. Alleva noted that YPG was composed of Kurds, Arabs, and Christians, and thanked the people of Rojava for their hospitality and struggle for humanity in the face of ISIS barbarism. http://en.hawarnews.com/kdp-puts-ypg-fighters-in-same-prison-cell-with-isis-gangs/] >> www.fonda.org <<

Weathered Ground Brewery in Cool Ridge is under roof, and owners Sam and Aryn Fonda plan to open in April. They are calling it a Family Friendly Brew Pub. In addition to their tap room, they will have an event space suitable for everything from birthdays to wedding receptions. They plan to have 8 beers on tap and are perfectly placed for catering to commuters. There's a lot of traffic that go up and down this road, Flat Top Road, people commuting to work from Princeton and Beckley and everything," said Sam Fonda. "They usually ride home, go to their fridge and pull out a beer when they get home. So we're hoping to get those people to stop here and get a beer and take some home with them and support local." [Outstanding Section Leader - Stu Fonda, Rocky Mountain Section - The Rocky Mountain Section recognizes Stu Fonda, a section leader who has achieved an outstanding level of commitment to our organization. When it comes to dedication and involvement, the RMSAWWA/RMWEA salutes Stu Fonda for his leadership and contributions to the Rocky Mountain Section of the American Water Works Association. Stu Fonda received a

B.S. degree in math from the U.S. Naval Academy in 1967 and spent four years in the Navy during the Vietnam War. During this assignment, he served on a minesweeper, a river patrol boat, and an aircraft carrier. At the end of his military service, he met his wife-to-be Barbara in Seattle. Barbara is currently a professor at Metropolitan State College, where she teaches microbiology. They have two daughters - Meg, a student at Columbia University, and Amy, who is in her third year of high school. After earning an M.S. in environmental engineering from the University of Illinois in 1973, Stu moved to Denver to ski. Between runs, he accepted a position with Black and Veatch, where he completed a variety of water and wastewater projects, specializing in rate and management studies. While completing a water rate study for the City of Englewood in 1977, the Utilities Director position opened, and Stu has been in that position since. In 1985, the Littleton/Englewood Wastewater Plant became a part of the Utilities Department, vastly increasing his involvement in the water field. In 2000, Englewood's Allen Water Treatment Plant was upgraded and the addition was dedicated to Stu in recognition of his contributions to the City of Englewood. From 1978 to 1987, Stu served in all of the officer positions for the Rocky Mountain Section of AWWA. In 1988, he received the Fuller Award, a high honor for AWWA members. From 1994 to 1997, Stu served as the Section Director, and he was elected to serve as AWWA Vice President in 1996. Stu is currently serving on the Board of Directors of the American Water Works Association Research Foundation and is a member of the AWWA membership committee. Being a member of the Rocky Mountain Section of AWWA has been a rewarding experience for me. It has provided me the opportunity to support the industry we are a part of. More important than that has been the opportunity to form so many friendships with people in both AWWA and WEF. As the TV commercial says, "that has been priceless." With sincere appreciation, we salute you, Stu Fonda! Provided by Jim Tallent, Rumbles editor from the Rocky Mountain Section. 2003 awwa.org]

We have less and less choice over what we are able to buy. Marketing is a huge industry. Combine the fact that just a few corporations control the markets and the money they are able to pour into marketing and its not difficult to understand what is going on. As long as profit is the bottom line whether what we are sold is good for us does not matter to the thieves ready to take our $ and many people are just like lambs to the slaughter. It takes a strong individual to avoid the trap. Marketing ploys assault most of us hundreds of times daily making simple living choices seem dull and boring. On the contrary, simple choices are the most satisfying and getting back to basics is the most healthy choice anyone can make. Corporations lose their power when the individual refuses to take the bait. Simple, ride a bike and smile like a Chesire cat as you ride by the gas station, take a bus, drink tap water instead of Coke or bottled water, cut up your credit cards and grin as you pass the banks, eat unadorned natural unproccessed foods, watch your body trim up and go to the thrift store and buy a smaller pair of jeans. Get back to basics and be healthy and happy and let all those other suckers pay and pay and pay and get fatter and fatter and fatter.] >> www.fonda.org <<

Never Be the Same (Pooka Toonz) represents the fruits of his recent labors. The disc takes an upbeat, adult look at life and love. Fonda laid down more than 20 tracks for Never at Liverpool's Bus Stop Studios. After handing out copies to family and friends for input, he honed down the collection to 12 songs that put a positive spin on contemporary music. The material on the disc oscillates between the festive style of Van Morrison and storytelling of Joni Mitchell or David Crosby, employing familiar song structures that make the most of his talents and those of his sidemen. Even back in his days leading The New Times Banned in 1994, Fonda demonstrated a penchant for singing warm melodies and maintaining an easygoing air of diplomacy. His knack for good vibes and good times attracted a who's who of the Syracuse music scene to help him out on Never.] >> www.fonda.org <<

(..) Crampton attributes the success of the events in part to the recent popularity of electronic dance music - something Barajas agrees with, even though it wasn't really a movement he and Fonda were trying to capitalize on. "We just kind of caught the wave," he said. "We didn't even realize we were paddling." What they did have, though, were friends and ideas. Fonda was the social butterfly of the two, the man who knew everyone. He now is in California studying to be a Navy Seal. Barajas was the one whose mind was always in event-planning mode. Fonda, who grew up in Omaha, wasn't terribly social in high school. But when he transferred to the University of Nebraska at Omaha his sophomore year of college, he decided to expand his circle. He joined a fraternity. He was a member of the tennis team. He hung out with members of groups that didn't normally mix. (..) The events draw mostly a college-age crowd, and many of Defy Gravity's early fans have graduated and moved on from Silly String, tempera paint and late-night dancing. Fonda said he expects that Defy Gravity eventually may evolve, too; he can envision it one day becoming a music festival or similar event. (..)] >> www.fonda.org <<

[US Army, Vietnam War, 4th Spc., Bronze Star]; [Joseph F. Fonda, 64, of the town of Glen, passed away unexpectedly on October 30, 2013. Joe was a great family man and loved his wife, children and grandchildren very much. He will be sorely missed by his family, friends and anyone who had the pleasure of knowing Joe. Born February, 28, 1949, to the late Melvin and Philomena (Conte) Fonda in Amsterdam, N.Y., Joe was a lifelong resident of the area. In 1967, he enlisted in the United States Army. Joe was an extremely devout veteran and truly risked his life to protect our freedom. He was a decorated combat veteran who fought on the front line and in one of Vietnam's worst attacks, The Tet Offensive. He received one of the military's highest honors, The Purple Heart. He received not only one Bronze Star but two, one of which was with the "V" for Valor. Joe also received: The Combat Infantry Badge, The Vietnam Service Medal, Overseas Service Bar, Marksman Award, Vietnam Campaign Medal, and the National Defense Service Medal. He also belonged to the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion. Joe often enjoyed spending his days helping his friends and getting help in return from his friends in the Amish Community, who were very much part of his everyday life. He enjoyed the outdoors and would often hunt or go for a ride on his motorcycle. Joe belonged to the 1st BN (M) 5th Infantry Society of Vietnam Combat Veterans, The Combat Vets Motorcycle Club, the Military Order of the Purple Heart, the NRA and the Disabled American Veterans. Joe is survived by his loving wife of 43 years, Charlene Fonda Mathewson; beloved daughters, Stacy L. Fonda and Carrie Ann Fonda; beloved grandchildren, Hannah Elease Philomena Freese and Joseph Rocco Freese; his brother, Michael Fonda (Joyce); his sister-in-law, Cathy Visscher (Michael). Several nieces, a nephew and several cousins also survive. The family invites relatives and friends to attend a memorial graveside service Sunday, November 3, at 2 p.m. at Maple Avenue Cemetery, Route 5S, Fultonville, NY 12072. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions can be made in Joe's memory to his grandchildren's college fund (Hannah and Joey). Donations can be mailed to Charlene at 453 Logtown Road, Fultonville, NY 12072. Joe's family has entrusted his care to Jackson & Betz Funeral Home, 15 Main St.,

Fultonville, NY 12072. Please visit and sign the family's guestbook at www.brbsfuneral.com. Gloversville NY Leader Herald, Saturday, November 2, 2013]

   Notes for Alika MEDEIROS and Ashley L. FONDA: m. Hawaii; [Dating Naked' Cast Members Wed. Marriage A Publicity Stunt For VH1 Series? - Kpopstarz.com August 29, 2014 by Toby Robboy - Reality TV dating shows are infamous for their general failure to set up successful relationships, but it looks like the newest kid on the block, VH1's Dating Naked, has already managed to beat the odds and send one couple down the aisle. Participants Ashley Fonda and Alika Medeiros tied the knot earlier this month, in what was, naturally, a naked ceremony. The Wedding was filmed to be aired on the VH1 in September, raising the question; is this all a publicity stunt to generate viewership for the network's newest franchise? The couple met during the filming of their first date in May. For the episode, they went on a naked surfing adventure, and apparently really hit it off. Fonda says of the experience, "We deeply connected and he taught me things," adding that "we realized we both have the flower of life tattoo," and that she "told one of the producers I'm going to marry this man.' " The couple wed on August 6, in a ceremony officiated by a shaman. Before stripping down, the blushing bride walked the aisle in a custom Nicholas Anthony gown. Neither the bride's nor the groom's family attended the the ceremony, which will air on September 18.]

[http://teacherweb.com/FL/MacFarlaneParkSchoolforIntlStudies/MrsAimeeFonda/t.aspx My name is Aimee Fonda. I have 8 years of teaching experience. I spent my first years of teaching in Orlando, FL where I lived for several years after college. I taught first grade and then 5th grade and loved the challenge that both offered. While teaching I spent evenings at University of Central Florida getting a Master's Degree in School Guidance and Counseling. During that time, I met my husband (also a teacher at the time) on a blind date set up by my roommate. After 5 years, we decided to start a family. In 2000, my first bundle of "boy" arrived and I couldn't bear not being with him 24/7. As a result, my husband left teaching and I became an official stay-at-home mom. Eight years later (and another bundle of "boy" later) I was ready to get back to the second most challenging and rewarding job available...TEACHING. Where else would I want to be but the best school in Hillsborough County (and beyond)... So, here I am at MacFarlane Park School for International Studies and loving it!]

Elsge DOUWES was born 1590, in Netherlands.

Notes for Douw Janszoon VANARENTSVELT: b. Harlingen, Friesland, Netherlands; d. Leiden, Friesland, Netherlands; was a master glazier (glassware merchant) who settled in Leyden soon after 1600; where he met and m. Maria Janse, dau. of Jans of Wassenaer, from Roozenberg, widow of Vechtor Vechterzoon Cuyper, also a glass worker. Douw became Burgess (Mayor) of Leyden in 1615 and also head of the glassmakers guild. He had many apprentices and at his death had many houses in the Kort Rappenburg part of Leyden, east side; full name Douw Janszoon deVries VanArentsvelt which means Douw s/o Jans of Vries from Arents Field; Douw's second son was Gerard Douw (also known as Gerrit Dou), a popular Dutch genre and portrait painter of Leiden. Gerard was apprenticed to an engraver and worked from 1628 to 1631 in the studio of the young Rembrandt Harmenszoon van Rijn. Although he occasionally borrowed Rembrandt's themes, he was more detailed and meticulous in his execution. His scenes of domestic, middle-class life were tremendously popular and often imitated. Among his most famous works are Evening Light (Rijks Museum), Young Man (The Hague), The Cook (Louvre), and a self-portrait (Metropolitan Museum). He was the founder of the school known as the Fijnschilders ('fine painters') whose influence lasted into the nineteenth century. His whole life was spent in Leiden, where he owned four houses. Gerrit Dou never married and had the reputation of being obsessively neat and detail-oriented. He died in Leiden in 1675 and was buried in the St. Pieters Kerk on 9 February of the same year. b. Leiden, Zuid-Holland, Netherlands; Dutch genre and portrait painter of Leiden, also known as Gerrit Dou. The son of a glass painter, he was apprenticed to an engraver and worked from 1628 to 1631 in the studio of the young Rembrandt. Among his most famous works are Evening Light (Rijks Museum), Young Man (The Hague), The Cook (Louvre), and a self-portrait (Metropolitan Museum) Born at Leiden on 7 April 1613, the son of a glass-engraver. He was apprenticed to an engraver and then to a glass-engraver before entering the glaziers' guild in 1625. On 24 February 1628 he entered Rembrandt's studio, remaining there probably until his master's removal to Amsterdam in 1631/2. He then became an independent master. In 1648 he was a founder member of the Leiden guild. He painted genre and history subjects, portraits and still lifes in a meticulous style which was lavishly rewarded by noble patrons who included Christina of Sweden, Archduke Leopold Wilhelm of Austria and Charles II of England (whose invitation to London Dou is said to have refused). He was the founder of the school known as the Fijnschilders ('fine painters') whose influence lasted into the nineteenth century. His whole life was spent in Leiden, where he owned four houses, and where he was buried in February 1675. 1140. Everardus[2] BOGARDUS (_ALLIED FAMILIES_[1]), born 27 Jul 1607, in Veenendahl, Utrecht, Netherlands, died 27 Sep 1647, in Bristol Channel (shipwreck), buried in Body lost at sea. He married Anneke JANS 29 Jan 1635, in New Amsterdam, New Netherlands. Anneke JANS was born 15 Jan 1605, in Norway, died 27 Feb 1663, in Beverwyck (now Albany), NY, buried in Albany Rural Cemetery, Menands, Albany Co., NY.

Notes for Everardus BOGARDUS: Everardus Bogardus (1607-1647) arrived in New Amsterdam on the ship "de Soutberg" in 1633. He was the second Domine (Minister) of the Dutch Reformed Church of New Amsterdam (now New York City). He was born in Veenendahl, Utrecht, Holland as Evert Bogaert, the son of Willem Janszen Bogaert and his second wife Susanna Adriaensdr van Reyteveld. He studied at the University of Leyden, matriculating in 1627, to pursue a course in literature. After serving as a voorleser (clerk) in Guinea, West Africa, he was ordained a Domine in the Dutch Reformed Church by the Classis of Amsterdam in 1632. The next year he was sent to New Amsterdam to preside over the church there. In 1638 he married Anneke Jans . He went back to Holland on a trip to visit the Classis of Amsterdam aboard the ship "De Princesse" (The Princess) which sailed from New Amsterdam in August 1647. However, he did not reach his fatherland, as the ship was wrecked in Bristol Channel (off Wales) and Everardus was drowned in September 1647. >> www.fonda.org <<

Notes for Anneke JANS: b. NOR; ANNEKE JANS (1605-1663) emigrated to New Amsterdam with her 1st husband, Roelof Janszen, on the ship "de Eendtacht" (The Unity) in 1630. Anneke was allegedly the granddaughter of William the Silent - (William I, Prince of Orange, 1533-1584 the father of the Dutch Republic). Both Anneke and Roelof were Norwegians by birth, but may have been of Dutch ancestry. They remained in New Amsterdam for a short time and then moved to Rensselaerwyck, on the Hudson, where Jan served as a farm superintendent for the wealthy Killian Van Rensselaer, a Director of the West Indies Company. In 1634, they moved back to New Amsterdam where Jan received a grant of 62 acres of land on the North (or Hudson) River, which is now Manhattan Island. After Jan's death in 1637, Anneke married the Domine Everardus Bogardus (the Latinized form of Bogaert) in 1638. Bogardus died in 1647 and in 1657, Anneke moved to Beverwyck (Albany), N.Y. She died in 1663 and is buried in the Middle Dutch Church Yard on Beaver Street, Albany, N.Y. Harper's Magazine in May 1885 had a very full and interesting account of Anneke Jans' farm on the Hudson (known as "Domine's Bouwery"), which became the property of Trinity Church causing a huge land dispute, finally dismissed in the 1920's. >> www.fonda.org <<

Notes for Evert Jansen WENDELL: b. Emden, Hanover, GER; d. Albany, Albany Co., NY; Evert Jansen Wendell was born in 1615 at Emden, a town of about 12,000 inhabitants, located at the mouth of the river "Ems", in the northwestern part of East Friesland (Hanover) Germany. His widowed mother was buried at Upleward, 10 miles from Emden where she died 23 Feb 1657. He came to America about 1640 and settled in the Dutch colony at New Amsterdam (later New York City). He emigrated to New Netherland under the Dutch West Indies Company. On Feb 8, 1647 he purchased a lot in an area called the "Graft" (now Beaver Street, New York, NY). In 1651 he moved his family to Fort Orange (Albany) where he died in 1709. His farm was on the south side of the city of Albany. Later he moved to a home on the west corner of James and State Streets were he remained until his death in 1709. He was a leading merchant in Fort Orange, a tailor by trade. Sarah Duchesne DUTRIEUX was born 1625, in New Amsterdam, New Netherlands, died 9 Nov 1692, in Albany, Albany Co., NY.

Notes for Isaac Jesse DEFREEST: b. Leiden, HOL; s/o Jesse DeFreest and Marie DuCloux; d. New York City; In 1621, the Walloons and Huguenots of Leyden, Holland planned to follow the Puritans to America (then called the West Indies). Jesse de Forest was acclaimed the leader and spokesman for the band when the exiles approached the British Ambassador at The Hague regarding their settling in Virginia. The English turned down his petition to establish a colony in Virginia. It was Jesse's desire to establish a Colony in the New World, so that the Walloons could practice their Reformed Religion without persecution. He then sought permission from the Dutch to establish a colony in what is now New York City. He was granted permission and soon assembled approximately 60 families of French-speaking Walloons and Dutch for the settlement in New Amsterdam, New Netherland. The first permanent settlers arrived in New Amsterdam in May 1624. Isaac de Forest, Jesse's son, arived from Leyden, Holland, March 5, 1637. Isaac made the voyage aboard the ship, Rensselaerwyck. This ship was jointly owned by Isaac's uncle, Gerard de Forest, and Killian VanRensselaer. The original name, de Forest, underwent several tranformations due to the Dutch and English influence. The name became DeForeest because of the Dutch. Spelling at that time was not as important as to how the name was pronounced. If it sounded a certain way, it had to be spelled a certain way. To the Dutch, this was the correct way. Philip DeForeest, Isaac's son was born July 28, 1652 in New Amsterdam. Philip eventually settled in Beverwyck, NY. Today, Beverwyck is known as Albany, Albany Co., NY. It is here that the name was once again transformed. DeFreest became the common spelling of the de Forest name in the Albany area of New York State. It was in Greenbush, NY, across the Hudson River from Albany, that most of the DeFreest family had lived. It is in their honor that the Hamlet of DeFreestville received its name. >> www.fonda.org <<

Notes for Pieter Casparszen VAN NAERDEN: b. Naarden, Noord-Holland, Netherlands; d. New Amsterdam (New York), New Netherland; bur. Dutch Reformed Church, New York City, New York; All we really know about the parentage of Pieter Casparszen van Naerden is that his father was named Caspar, and that he was born in a place that was either called or sounded like Naerden. There are no records of Pieter Casparszen ever using any surname. In fact, the first use of the Mabie surname in any form by proven members of his family occurred in New York in 1687. A search of the records for the Dutch Reformed Church in Naarden, Noord Holland, has proved fruitless. It has long been speculated that Pieter was of French extraction (a Huguenot), with the name Mabie having been derived from the French name Mabille. The Mabie surname appears to have surfaced in Scotland shortly after the Norman invasion. So, perhaps the name is originally from France after all. However, there may have been a few detours en route to New Amsterdam The name of Pieter Casparszen van Naerden appears in a few records that have survived the years. He is listed in a 1660 census of New Amsterdam. In 1657, he was listed as a "Small Burgher", a status which conveyed certain rights to the individual. In 1653, he was named as one "of the most influential citizens and inhabitants of this city" in the council minutes. Also, in 1653, he was a corporal in the Burgher Corps of New Amsterdam. From the baptismal records of the New Amsterdam Reformed Dutch Church, we know that Pieter was in New Amsterdam by February 1647, and that he was still alive in December 1662. >> www.fonda.org <<

Was known as the "smalle cuyper" and made barrels for use by the villagers who numbered fewer than 200 people. In all probability, he came from one of the two towns in Holland by the name of Ouderkerk. Ouderkerk aan de Amstel is eight kilometers south of Amsterdam on the Amstel River. Ouderkerk aan de Ijssel is located just east of Rotterdam on the Ijssel River. He probably came from Ouderkerk aan de Amstel near the then large port of Amsterdam; since at the time of his passage, Rotterdam had not yet developed into a port city. It has also been very difficult to trace the exact date of Jan Janse's arrival in the New World Early records a few with many being lost through the years.; [R002] Pearson's First Settlers of the Ancient County of Albany >> www.fonda.org <<

German Palatines - The German Palatines were natives of the Electoral Palatinate region of Germany, although a few had come to Germany from Switzerland, the Alsace, and probably other parts of Europe. Towards the end of the 17th century and into the 18th, the wealthy region was repeatedly invaded by French troops, which resulted in continuous military requisitions, widespread devastation and famine. The "Poor Palatines" were some 13,000 Germans who came to England between May and November 1709. Their arrival in England, and the inability of the British Government to integrate them, caused a highly politicized debate over the merits of immigration. The English tried to settle them in England, Ireland, and the Colonies. The English transported nearly 3,000 in ten ships to New York in 1710. Many of them first were assigned to work camps along the Hudson River to work off their passage. Close to 850 families settled in the Hudson River Valley, primarily in what are now Germantown and Saugerties, New York. In 1723 100 heads of families from the work camps were the first Europeans to acquire land west of Little Falls, New York, in present-day Herkimer County on both the north and south sides along the Mohawk River. Later additional Palatine Germans settled along the Mohawk River for several miles, founding towns such as Palatine Bridge, and in the Schoharie Valley. Origins - Throughout the Nine Years War (16881697) and the War of Spanish Succession (17011714), recurrent invasions by the French Army devastated the area of what is today Southwest Germany. The depredations of the French Army and the destruction of numerous cities (especially within the Palatinate) created economic hardship for the inhabitants of the region, exacerbated by a rash of harsh winters and a poor harvests that created famine in Germany and much of northwest Europe. What triggered the mass emigration in 1709 of impoverished people to England was the Crown's promise of free land in the American Colonies. Parliament discovered in 1711 that several "agents" working on behalf of the Colony of Carolina had promised the peasants around Frankfurt free passage to the plantations. Spurred by the success of several dozen families the year before, thousands of German families headed down the Rhine to England and the New World.

1710 Palatine Imigration - Background of 1709/1710 Group - The first large group of Germans to North America after the initial Germantown colony was the large exodus of Germans in 1709-1710 to New York. These emigrants began arriving in England in May 1709. Conditions in London and Rotterdam were not good because of the large numbers of emigrants that had to be provided for. Some returned to their homes (including all the Catholics), went on to other parts of England or Ireland (821 families), North Carolina (840 families, 650 going to the New Bern settlement), and West Indies. Of the 13,000 Germans who reached London in 1709, about a quarter of these continued on to New York. Most of the Palatines for New York began boarding ships in Dec 1709, but did not leave England until April 1710. About 3,100 emigrants sailed on 11 ships to New York and were accompanied by the Governor-Elect Hunter. About 470 Germans perished on the voyage and another 250 after landing. An estimated 2,500 disease-laden emigrants had to be provided for in New York. Noteable passengers included: Georg Dachstatter, age thirty, his wife and child Georg Adam Dachstatter, are listed on the sixth list of arrivals, a 4 July 1710, subsistence list along with any who appear to have been part of their households. Johann Christ Gerlach, a passenger also listed, was the listmaster on the ship James & Elizabeth which arrived 16 June 1710, captained by Captain Henry Gravener. His name on this list, indicates that the people on this list were probably passengers on that ship. Out beside Georg's name, Project notes read: name originally spelled Tachstetter; arived on Howlentzen's ship in Holland. 4th group of arrivals in London.

1160. Harmen Albertse[2] VEDDER (_ALLIED FAMILIES_[1]), born in Netherlands, died 1715, in Schenectady, Schenectady Co., NY. He married PROVOOST.

Notes for Harmen Albertse VEDDER: b. Netherlands; imm. 1640; d. Schenectady, Albany Co., NY; [Harmen Albertse Vedder, the first settler, was a trader in Beverwyck before the year 1657, when he sold to Rutger Jacobsen his house and lot; This lot was on the south side of State Street, between Green and Pearl Streets, and extended back only to the Rutten kil, now arched over and used as a sewer. The price of this house and lot was 2,325 guilders. In 1660 he returned to Holland; 1661 as agent for Dirk De Wolfe, merchant of Amsterdam, he erected a salt kettle on Coney Island, which being claimed by the inhabitants of Gravesend, he brought a suit before the governor and council to make good his claim to it, and being beaten, abandoned the enterprise; 1663 leased his bouwery at Schenectady to Symon Groot for 6ys., at 500 guilders rent; 1664 Harmen Vedder, William Teller and Sander Leendertse Glen petitioned Gov. Stuyvesant to have their lands surveyed at Schenectady; 1668 being in Holland with other merchants from the province of New York, he purchased goods and chartered the ship King Charles and petitioned the king of England for permission to send the same to New York, which was granted; 1667 he lived in Albany in a house belonging to Dirk De Wolfe of Amsterdam, who, having returned to Holland, Gov. Nicolls ordered the house and lot to be confiscated; his village lot on the north side of Union Street, was the same as occupied by the late Doct. Alexander G. Fonda, 51ft. front and 404ft. deep Amsterdam measure, extending to Front Street; be purchased it of the heirs of Reinier, son of Domine Schaets of Albany, after his massacre by the French and Indians in 1690. His son Johannes occupied it after his death, which probably took place about the year 1715, for on the 3d of May that year, Arient Vedder, his brethren and sister petitioned the common council of Albany for the renewal of a release ("burnt at Schenectady when it was cut off") of a lot owned by their late father Harmen Vedder deceased, lying on the south side of the city of Albany. Notes for Volckert Jansen DOUW: b. Leeuwarden, Holland; d. Albany, NY; bur. Albany Rural Cemetery, Menands, Albany Co., NY

[Captain Volckert Janzen Douw was the son of Jan Douw. He married Dorotee Janse Van Bresteed, daughter of Jan Janszen and Englete Jans, 19 April 1650 at New Amsterdam, New York. He died in 1681 at Beverwyck, Albany Co., New York. Captain Volckert Janszen Douw was suposedly persecuted for his Mennonite beliefs and driven to Friedrichstadt, Denmark, a city that allowed religious liberty. About 1637, Calvinists again waged war against this hunted sect, and as the Holland colony of New Netherlands was already flourishing enough to attract emigration, many fled for religious freedom, including Volckert, his brother, two sister, cousins, and other relatives. He held the rank of Captain in the Dutch army. He settled for a few months at Catskill, going to Beverwyck late in 1638. He dealt largely in real estate and owned several of the islands in the Hudson river below Albany. He bore arms and these are [or were] on a window in the old Dutch church (at Albany?). In 1640, he received a conveyance of lands from the Indians, which was confirmed to his widow in 1693. He owned a large brewery that he sold to his nephew Harman Rutgers. He was called "Honorable Volckert Douw, Burgher of the village and master (Heerschaps) of the Bowery lying in the colony of Rensselaerwyck." He was deacon in the church and guardian of the widows and poor in 1654, and was magistrate from 1654 to 1660. He owned much land at Esopus, New York, and was one of the original patentees. For a time, he was commissary and was continuously the Indian commissioner. At different times he was attorney and guardian for large estates. In 1663 he and Jan Thomas Witbeck, his real estate partner, bought from the Mahikanders, Schotack or Apjen's Island and the mainland lying east of it. He also owned Constapel's Island, lying opposite Bethlehem, half of which, in 1677, he sold to Pieter Winne. He owned Papsknae Island where he had a summer home. However, in 1666, an extradordinary flood wiped the place out, and the family barely escaped. That same year he purchased "Douw's Point Wolvenhoeck," just below the village of Greenbush. In 1672, he owned Schutter's Island below Becren Island, which he sold to Barent Pieterse Coeymans. He made his will in 1680 and died by 1686.] >> www.fonda.org <<

Another lists Jans as Hester's maiden name, which is from her mother, Maria Jans; Barent Gerritse married Hester Fonda, widow of Jillis, sometime between 1656 and 1661 and was killed in the second Esopus War in 1663. Hester and daughter Sara were taken prisoner by the Indians. The widow eventually returned to Albany, her name appearing in occasional Albany records, as late as 1681. Yet examination of the baptismal sponsors of the children of Grietje and her husband Adam Vrooman show a connection between Greitje and the children of Takel. To my knowledge there is no other Takel living in New Netherland who could be the father of Grietje, and unless she immigrated by herself I believe that she is the daughter of Takel Dirckszen van Heemstraat and Maritie (__).] >> www.fonda.org <<

[Van Santvoord, Cornelius, clergyman, born in Holland in 1637 {1687}; died in Schenectady, New York, 6 January, 1752. He studied in the University of Leyden, came to this country about 1718, and became pastor of the Reformed Dutch church of Staten island, organized in 1690. He was here from 1718 till 1742, preaching both in French and in Dutch, many of his hearers being French Protestant refugees, settled on the island. In the latter year he removed to Schenectady, and became pastor of the Reformed Dutch church there, in which place he remained until his death. His intimate friend, Theodorus J. Frelinghuysen, who came to this , country from Holland two years after him, settling at Raritan, New Jersey, and arousing much opposition by his bold and earnest evangelism, found strong support in Mr. Van Santvoord, who published in his detente a small volume entitled "A Dialogue between Considerans and Candidus." He was a friend and had been a favorite pupil of the eminent Professor John Marck, of Leyden university, two of whose works he translated--one a "Commentary on the Apocalypse," with added notes and reflections, the preface being written by Professor Wesselius of the same university (Leyden, 1736); the other "' A Dissertation on the Slaughter of the Innocents at Bethlehem," designed to establish the literal interpretation of prophecy.--His great-grandson, Staats, clergyman, born in Schenectady, New York, 15 March, 1790; died in New Baltimore, New York, 29 May, 1882, was graduated at Union in 1811 and at New Brunswick theological seminary in 1814, ordained to the ministry of the Dutch Reformed church, and was pastor of the church of Belleville, New Jersey, in 1814-'28, of the church in Schodack, New York, in 1829-'34, and thence removed to New Baltimore, where he resided until his death. He retired after completing his fiftieth year in the active ministry of the Reformed Dutch church. In 1864 he was in the service of the Christian commission at Nashville, Tennessee His last public appearance was in his ninety-first year, when he attended the 200th anniversary of the Dutch Reformed church at Schenectady, of which his ancestor was pastor, delivering the benediction in Dutch. Union gave him the degree of D.D. in 1876. He published several sermons, and "A Spiritual Gift," a series of fifteen discourses (New York, 1851).--Staats's son, , Cornelius, clergyman, born in Belleville, New Jersey, 8 April, 1816, was graduated at Union in 1835, and :studied at New Brunswick and Princeton theological seminaries. He became pastor of the Dutch Reformed church in Canastota, New York, in 1838, subsequently filled charges in New York state, was chaplain in the United States army in 1861-'5, associate , editor of the "Interior," Chicago, Illinois, in 1869-'71, and commissioner of schools in Ulster county. New York, in 1871-'6. Rutgers gave him the degree of I). D. in 1855. He was a special correspondent of the "New York Times" during the civil war, has published numerous magazine and newspaper articles, "Discourses and Miscellanies" (New York, 1856), and "Memoirs of Eliphalet Nott," with contributions by Professor Tayler Lewis (1876).--Another son of Staats, George, lawyer, born in Belleville, New Jersey, S December, 1819; died in East Albany, New York, 6 March, 1863, was graduated at Union in 1841, studied law in Kinderhook, and removed to Indiana, but returned to the former town and practised there in 1846-'52. In 1852 and 1856 he was a member of the state assembly, and in 1860-'3 district attorney of Rensselaer county. He was killed in a railroad accident. He wrote for the "Democratic Review" lives of French revolutionists, and is the author of "The Indiana Justice" (Lafayette, 1845); "Life of Algernon Sidney" (New York, 1851); "Principles of Pleading in Civil Actions under the New York Code" (1852-'4 ; enlarged edition, with additions, 1855; with appendix, notes, and references, 1858); "Lives of the Chief Justices of the United States" (1854) ; "Precedents of Pleading" (1858) ; and "Practice in the Supreme Court of New York in Equity Actions" (Albany, New York, 1860-'1). http://famousamericans.net/corneliusvansantvoord]

He married Ariaantje Vanderheyden BRADT 31 Dec 1747, in Albany, NY. She was the daughter of Anthony Anthonyse BRADT and Rebecca Ketelhuyn VANDERHEYDEN. Ariaantje Vanderheyden BRADT was born 1 Mar 1721, in Beverwyck (now Albany), NY.

Notes for Cornelius VANSANTVOORD: b. Staten Island, NY; d. Albany, NY; [Cornelis Van Santvoort probably was born on Staten Island. He was the eldest son of Reformed minister Cornelis Van Santvoort and his wife Anna Staats. In 1738, he was listed as a first lieutenant on the roster of a Staten Island militia company. By 1740, his father had moved the family to Schenectady to serve the Dutch congregation there. In 1746, he was identified as a soldier in a company of volunteers recruited in New York to serve in an expedition against Canada. Cornelis married Ariaantie Bradt at the Albany Dutch church in December 1747 on the same day that his brother, Staats, married Ariaantie's sister, Willemptie Bradt!. By 1761, six of their children had been baptized at the Albany Dutch church where both parents were pewholders. Cornelis Van Santvoort was a Hudson River skipper and was known as "Captain." For several decades he carried cargoes between Albany and New York for a number of merchants and businessmen including Sir William Johnson. His civic career began in 1740 when he was appointed chamberlain (treasurer) and posted a 500 pound bond. He was reappointed in 1750. In 1755, he served as a firemaster in the first ward. But, by 1766, he had settled in the third ward where he owned a home and occasionally kept boarders. In 1775, he was elected to represent the third ward on the Albany Committee of Correspondence and was active in its operations. At the same time, he served as "Commissary of Stores" - stating In 1777 that "it is a glory to be in the Service for the defence of my country." However, he constantly pointed out that he had been serving without a commission. After initially refusing to sign the Association, Cornelis Van Santvoort relented and then served the revolutionary cause throughout the struggle even though he was exempted from active duty in 1778 by virtue of his age. Cornelis Van Santvoort was listed in the Watervliet section of the censuses of 1790 and 1800.]; [http://www.albany.edu/history/eoah/entries/v/van_santvoord_cornelius.htm]; [http://www.nysm.nysed.gov/albany/bios/vs/covsvoort6721.html] >> www.fonda.org <<

Notes for Myndert Johannes WEMPLE: Myndert Wemple, first child of Johannes Wemple, apparently lived his early life at Schenectady. At some time he moved to Baltimore, Md. and became a sea captain. Thus far no information has surfaced about the wife he married in that area, Sarah Mills. They had four children, of whom the last was Andrew, born about 1739 in Maryland. Records seem to indicate the family returned to Schenectady about 1739. Myndert died at some time before 1748 and bequeathed his lot in Schenectady to two grandsons. His will was proved likely in 1748. >> www.fonda.org <<

He was graduated from Union College in the Class of 1816, with Phi Beta Kappa rank, and later received the degree of Master of Arts. He then entered into the profession of Counsellor-at-Law. He held the office of Surrogate of Schenectady County from 1821-1840. For many years he was the Editor of the Schenectady Democrat and Reflector. He wrote, investigated and preserved many valuable articles on the early history of the city and county which became the foundation for their published history. It was also during this time that he was responsible for obtaining pensions for county men, who served in the Revolutionary War, representing them and writing to the necessary military entities, thereby establishing the records necessary for the application of pensions. He was very successful in this endeavor. He was an artist, painting the Old Dutch Church as well as other scenes. He designed Masonic aprons. He was an archaeologist, philosopher and adept in the occult sciences. He indicated the Masonic calendar, as we know it, establishing the dates from the Jewish calendar. He was a prolific author and poet, submitting many articles for publication to Brother Cornelius Moore for the Masonic Review. He had no equal in the science of Masonic archaeology. When he could no longer sustain himself with legal work in Schenectady, for he never married; he served the Naval Department, eventually leaving the area for New York City, where he died on December 13, 1859.

[Neeltje is the g-g-granddaughter of the infamous Anneke Jans (1605-1663), who emigrated to New Amsterdam with her 1st husband, Roelof Janszen, on the ship "de Eendtacht" (The Unity) in 1630. Anneke was allegedly the granddaughter of William the Silent - (William I, Prince of Orange, 1533-1584 the father of the Dutch Republic). Both Anneke and Roelof were Norwegians by birth, but may have been of Dutch ancestry. They remained in New Amsterdam for a short time and then moved to Rensselaerwyck, on the Hudson, where Jan served as a farm superintendent for the wealthy Killian VanRensselaer, a Director of the West Indies Company. In 1634, they moved back to New Amsterdam where Jan received a grant of 62 acres of land on the North (or Hudson) River, which is now Manhattan Island. After Jan's death in 1637, Anneke married the Domine Everardus Bogardus (the Latinized form of Bogaert) in 1638. Bogardus died in 1647 and in 1657, Anneke moved to Beverwyck (Albany), NY. She died in 1663 and is buried in the Middle Dutch Church Yard on Beaver Street, Albany, Albany Co., NY. Harper's Magazine in May 1885 had a very full and interesting account of Anneke Jans' farm on the Hudson (known as "Domine's Bouwery"), which became the property of Trinity Church causing a huge land dispute, finally dismissed in the 1920's.]

Catalina Lansing[6] YATES (Christopher Johannes[5], Johannes Christopher[4], Christopher Joseph[3], Joseph Christopher[2], _ALLIED FAMILIES_[1]), born 28 Oct 1771, in Albany, NY, died 29 May 1862, buried in Caughnawaga Cemetery, Fonda, Montgomery Co., NY. She married (1) Henry Vrooman FONDA 13 Feb 1792, in Dutch Reformed Church, Greenbush, East Greenbush, Rensselaer Co., NY. He was the son of Jellis Douw FONDA and Jannetje Wemple "Jane" VROOMAN. Henry Vrooman FONDA was born 6 Nov 1769, in East Greenbush, Rensselaer Co., NY, bapt. 10 May 1768, died 23 Apr 1799, in Caughnawaga, Montgomery Co., NY, buried in Caughnawaga Cemetery, Fonda, Montgomery Co., NY. She married (2) Werden HAMMOND 5 Mar 1803, in Johnstown, NY. Werden HAMMOND was born 10 Apr 1771, died 29 Jul 1810, in Canajoharie, NY, buried in Caughnawaga Cemetery, Fonda, Montgomery Co., NY.

Notes for Catalina Lansing YATES: b. Albany, NY; d/o Christopher Yates; 1800 US Federal Census, Johnstown, Fulton Co., NY (Widow Fonda); 1810 US Federal Census, Johnstown, Fulton Co., NY (Worden Hammond, household of 9); 1850 US Federal Census, Mohawk, Montgomery Co., NY (Catalina Hammond, b. 1772, NY); [Catalina was married again to Werden Hammond on March 5, 1803 in Johnstown and had 3 children from 1802-1808; The story of the courtship of Mrs. Hammond by Werden Hammond is as follows: Catlyna Yates, widow of Henry Fonda, (who was a son of Jellis) was on her way to visit friends on the south side of the river. When she was part way across, she experienced some difficulty and two young men on their way to Albany with a load of furs, came to her assistance. The men were Werden and John Hammond of Utica, surveyors and merchants, they having made the first survey of Utica. Werden was so pleased with the charming lady, that he called on his way home, and after a proper, though short courtship, they were married and took up their abode in the still unfinished Jellis Fonda mansion on the hill. Werden Hammond finished the house and all the Hammond children were born in it. Jane Fonda, daughter of Mrs. Hammond and her first husband, Henry Fonda, was married to Abram A. VanHorne while she lived in this beautiful home. Mrs. VanHorne being the grandmother of Miss Hannah VanHorne and brothers, Abram and John. After the death of Werden Hammond, his widow removed to the home in Caughnawaga. Her sons C. Y. and Henry F. laid out and gave to the village the beautiful cemetery, known as the Caughnawaga Cemetery. In 1837 C. Y. Hammond was town clerk, the first one in the town. On the north side of the street just opposite the Hammond property, was the old Caughnawaga church and parsonage. The church was built in 1763 by the patronage, principally, of Sir William Johnson, the Wemple, Fonda, Veeder and Vrooman families, and the reason it was spared when Sir John Johnson raided the town, in 1780, was because the ground had been a part of the Butler grant]; [R038a] The Fonda Family; [NYG&B] Record 56:393 >> www.fonda.org <<

Riverview Cemetery, Baldwinsville, Onondaga Co., NY; [Charles Waite an old and respected resident of Baldwinsville died suddenly at his home on Salina street Wednesday afternoon, May 25, 1904, aged 85 years. Mr. Waite has been in poor health for some time, being afflicted with heart trouble. He had a severe attack on Tuesday but recovered so that he was able to be around the house and yard, although very weak. The severe eleotrical storm Wednesday afternoon was yery oppressive to him and after the rain he went out into his garden for relief in the fresh air. He returned to the house in a few minutes complaining of severe pain and before a physician could be called passed away. Charles N. Waite was born Brookfield, Madison county, Nov. 27, 1818, being one of a family of ten children. He came to Baldwinsville nearly thirty years ago and has since resided here. He was married Sept. 7, 1848, to Irena Fonda, the death of Mrs. Waite January 10, 1901, severing a home companionship of over fifty years. Mr. Waite possessed a happy disposition and was a lover of nature, his keenest pleasure being derived from roaming the woods and fields. A keen observer, his store of knowledge pertaining to woodcraft was apparently inexhaustible and was the source of sure information to all of like interests. He is survived by one daughter, Orissa Waite of this place, who has the sympathy of many in her bereavement. Funeral services will be held at his late home on Salina street Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. E. A. McMaster conducting the service. Burial will be in Riverview cemetery. The Gazette and

Notes for Mercy Rice FONDA and John Wheaton BULLIS: [Henry Bullis (son) died unexpectedly Friday night, as the result of a slight cold, aged ninety-nine years, eight months and eight days. He was very near the century mark. And thus he passed from our community, not only a very aged man, but a man who was all his business life a strong figure in Canton. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at three and the burial was in Fairview, the cemetery that Mr. Bullis took a leading part in securing for Canton. (..) Mr. Bullis was born in Plattsburg. His father was John W. Bullis and his mother Mary Ann Fonda Bullis. The family then consisted of the father and mother and three children, Fonda, Henry and Mercy Ann. It was in 1841 that the parents decided to trek through the great wilderness in New York state to the Valley of the St. Lawrence, for they had heard of its fertility and virgin soil and they had within them the souls of the pioneers, and in those days to move from Plattsburgh to this valley was literally going into the west. And so the family started, loading the household goods into a wagon that was drawn by oxen, and gathering together such stock as could stand the long trip. It was after a long and hard journey that they finally arrived at their destination. Canton, but on the way, at Malone, Mercy Ann had been taken sick and so the mother stayed at Malone, as did Henry, while his father and elder brother, Fonda, came on to their destination. When Mercy Ann had sufficiently recovered to travel the father went to Malone and brought the rest of his family here and they were reunited. (..) About twenty years ago Lanier and his father and brother were traveling in the Chihuahua Mountains, and camped on the reservation of the Chihuahua and Apache Indians. A member of the tribe showed the Laniers a number of gold nuggets, and directed them to the spot from which the wealth was obtained, and worked it for a few weeks, taking out several hundred dollars worth of gold with pick and shovel. The Indians one day made a raid on their camp and killed one of the brothers, and took the other brother and father prisoners. The two survivors were released upon promise to leave the reservation immediately. The father of the boys drew a diagram of the location of the mine, which he kept in his possession until a few months ago, when he died. His son immediately fitted out an expedition in Texas to search for the lost mine, and found it without any difficulty. res. Midland, TX; [Forensic exam shows Texas woman committed suicide in Cherokee County by burning herself Updated: May 29, 2015, By Jordan Aubey, Reporter News release by CheroShannon Fondakee County Sheriff's Office - The Cherokee County Sheriff's Office and Kansas Bureau of Investigation have been investigating the death of 35 year-old Shannon Fonda since her body was discovered near Scammon on March 23rd, 2015. After identifying Ms. Fonda, investigators made contact with her family in Texas, and learned it was not uncommon for her to leave home without notice for periods of time. During the course of the investigation, detectives conducted numerous interviews documenting Ms. Fonda's departure from Midland, Texas on March 14, 2015. Based upon those interviews, surveillance video from several establishments Ms. Fonda stopped at along the way and financial records, authorities know that Ms. Fonda was traveling alone and ran out of money leaving her stranded in Cherokee County. An autopsy on Ms. Fonda was conducted in Kansas City and it was noted that while she had non-life threatening cuts, which were consistent with self-inflicted injuries, her death was caused by severe burns to 90% of her body. Crime Scene Investigators collected numerous items at the scene and DNA testing along with other forensic examinations were conducted. All testing, including DNA analysis on the gas can at the scene, showed Ms. Fonda was the only one who handled the gas can. As a result of the investigation, Ms. Fonda's death is being ruled a suicide.] >> www.fonda.org <<

Woodson, originally pub. by The Association for the Study of Negro Life and History, Inc., Washington, DC, 1925).]; [Town of Galway records show that in 1812, Abraham Fonda sold a certain slave, called "Lun," to John Pettit and that Pettit entered into an agreement "to free 'Lun' in nine years and at that time give 'Lun' two cows and 10 sheep of full middling quality." The document was witnessed by Lenton Hicks and Ebenezer Fitch and Eli Smith recorded it April 6, 1813. Nine years later, in 1822, it is recorded that Abijah Comstock and Asa Cornell, overseers of the poor, were called upon to examine the said "Lun" and "Kate," his wife, "to see if they were of sufficient ability to provide for and maintain themselves?" They issued a certificate of freedom in issuing which they took pains to state that it was their pleasure "to encourage acts of humanity" and an entire willingness that "all should enjoy the inalienable right of liberty." Two new income tax experts have joined DMA to monitor federal, state and local tax developments that impact its clients' financial positions. David Fonda and Bruce Seyboth are enhancing DMA's ability to provide clients with high-level tax consulting services. "As a result of Sarbanes-Oxley, clients have asked us for a broader range of income tax services, and we are pleased to respond," said Mike Albano, Vice President of DMA's Income Tax Division. "David and Bruce are among the very best in the field, and they enhance DMA's ability to provide outstanding consulting services. They are working closely with clients to help them realize the maximum benefits and tax-savings opportunities available." As Director of Technical Services, Fonda identifies, develops and delivers new income tax products and services for DMA clients, ensuring they receive effective solutions for their income tax issues. D. Crooker, whose fortune was swept away by the flood at Galveston, Texas, blew out his brains at Union City, Pa. today. Crooker was visiting relatives here, and it is supposed that brooding over his losses was the cause of the suicide. He was 50 years of age and married. res. NE; age 19, father is Herbert Fonda, husband Clarence (per story below) >> www.fonda.org <<

This could be a fictional story: [The Wife's Money - By Mrs. Eva Leonard - "Oh! Herbert" was all Mrs. Fonda said as she handed her husband a letter. She was very pale, and her eyes were red. He opened it and read: "Dear Mother - I know that what I am doing will give you and father pain, but I cannot help it I have tried, God knows I have tried, to make you understand my position, but I have utterly failed, and I simply cannot live as I have been living any longer "Four years ago I wanted an allowance I wanted to be independent, but rather would not listen, and you were indifferent. I surely did my part in the home. I helped with the work and did all the children's sewing, yet I never had any money of my own. I had to ask for everything. I did all the shopping for you and the children, but my heart sank every time a shopping trip was necessary, for try as I would I could not please you, and we were sure to have a stormy scene. "You thought I paid too much for everything, and I, driven to desperation, told you to do your own buying. Why you would not I never could see. In short, your attitude on the money question made me prefer to go without anything rather than ask for it. I never had what the other girls had. If we could not have afforded those things I would have been all right, but we are not poor. "I married Clarence last night and we are on the way to our new home. I was sure you would object to the marriage on account of my youth if for no other reason, and scenes are distressing to me. So we went quietly to the minister's from Ella's house and then took the train. You may be sure of one thing. I have made it very plain to Clarence that I must have money of my own to spend unquestioned. He is going to give up part of his salary and we shall divide the expenses. I hope now that we are separated that we can better understand one another. Kiss the dear children for me and forgive... Your daughter, Clara - Mr. Fonda laid the letter on the table took off his coat and hung it in the hall then came and sat down by his wife, who was crying softly. Poor little girl, she sobbed, to think I could be so blind "I can remember her leaving the table in tears because I refused to get something she asked for when I did not think she needed it," said Mrs. Fonda I thought she was getting so much more sensible lately because she asked for so little." And now she's married and only nineteen." We have driven her from home with our stupidity and if she is unhappy in her marriage she has us to blame," added the mother. "I don't know much about Clarence. I never dreamed that she cared for him said Mr. Fonda. "That's it, we neither of us

"dreamed." We were so busy with our humdrum work that we did not take time to understand our daughter. Mr. Fonda was quick to take a more cheerful view, "We will both write her a letter that will let her see we love her anyway. We'll invite them right here for New Year's and fit her out with a bride's clothes and help with the furnishing of the new home. "We'll do everything we can to make their marriage a success." "Maybe it will be all right," Mrs. Fonda said, brightening, "He seemed a nice boy. They are both only children. We must help them," and she rose to serve the dinner. [Samantha Fonda joins Avison Young in Chicago as operations manager - January 7, 2021 - Avison Young has tapped Samantha Fonda to serve as the operations manager for the Chicago region. In this role, Fonda will be responsible for defining operational policies; identifying, hiring and managing administrative personnel and developing and implementing employee training programs. She will also be responsible for liaising with departmental heads to develop financial plans and ensure compliance as well as managing internal communications. "Samantha brings a well-regarded track record of operational excellence and she has a firm understanding of all aspects of the industry," said Beth Phillips, Avison Young principal and managing director of the firm's Chicago office. "We're really leaning on her expertise to streamline our day-to-day procedures and help develop our administrative staff as we continue to grow our offering of services in the Chicago market." Fonda was most recently with JLL in Seattle and Chicago, where she worked closely with brokers developing sales strategy and executing new business pursuits. Prior to working at JLL, she held operations positions at The Atlantic and BAV Consulting (a part of Y&R Group). "Avison Young's brand and reach continue to evolve and grow, which makes it an exciting time to join the team," said Fonda. "I'm grateful for the opportunity to develop strategies and drive operational efficiency as we continue to expand."]

The three candidates are Jeff Fonda, a sophomore international relations major, Sarah Kremer, a sophomore intending to major in sociology and Pete Healey, a 53-year-old resident of New Paltz and long-time active participant in village politics. "With only a year, it'll be hard to accomplish something, but I can get the ball rolling," said Fonda, a student senator. Some of the most important goals for Fonda are building a strong relationship between the police as the liaison, improving infrastructure and finding ways to save tax dollars within the village. While Fonda is not originally from New Paltz, he believes that the student body is an important part of the village of New Paltz. He said that his lack of time living in the village is beneficial as he will approach the position with an open mind and without ingrained ideas of how the village should be run. The main reason Fonda is running for the position, he said, is to have better student representation in local government, as there are already two non-student trustees. "Students represent half the voters, and there is no student representative," he said. He also added that he felt fellow student candidate Kremer does not properly represent the student body.(...) 1463. E. A.[3] FONDA (_PA_[2], _STRAY FONDAS_[1]), born 1835, in Connecticut. He married Maria MEARS. She was the daughter of Elijah HOWE and Lydia MEARS. Maria MEARS was born 12 Feb 1825, in Pennsylvania, died 12 Dec 1866.

Notes for family of E. A. FONDA and Maria MEARS: It appears that Anna A. Fonda born in 1856 in Catawissa, PA could be the daughter of Henry Adam Fonda prior to his marriage to Carolina Louisa Brown. Henry did work on the Catawissa Railroad and Catawissa is only 30 miles from Milton, PA. There are no other Fonda's in the vicinity.

Anna's death certificate lists E. A. Fonda of CT as her father. Henry was not from CT but there are no other Fonda's matching that description. So this is merely speculation. The fact that Anna was not in Henry's will is also convincing. His character would not have overlooked that if it were true.

Another possibility is Elisha Hamilton Fonda b. 1833 in Broadalbin, NY but living in Derby, CT in 1860, married with first child born in 1859.

Children of E. A. FONDA and Maria MEARS:

i. Anna A. FONDA, born 8 Mar 1856, in Catawissa, PA, died 22 Dec 1908, in Easton, PA, buried in Easton Heights Cemetery, Easton, PA. She married James H. MCNELLY. James H. MCNELLY was born 1855, in New York, USA.

Blytheville, AR; (Classmates.com: Cora Fonda; Delta C7 High School, Deering, MO, 1989-1993); [semissourian.com Article Published on: 2/24/2002 When Cora Fonda was a student at Southeast Missouri State University in the mid-1990s there wasn't any campus ministry geared specifically to black students. She visited area churches but didn't find a place she felt comfortable, and transportation was difficult since she lived on campus but had no car. Today, Fonda is taking an active role in the leadership of Black Collegiate Christian Ministries at Southeast. She leads a women's Bible study each Tuesday, attends worship on campus each Sunday and occasionally sings in the choir. "It's wonderful to have a place to go where you can identify with the people," she said. Having the campus convenience is also a great benefit for the students, she said. Black Collegiate Christian Ministries is the first campus ministry for black students at Southeast Missouri State University. A Black Fellowship Choir affiliated with the Baptist Student Center had been meeting for about a dozen years. The black student ministry was an outgrowth of the choir.] >> www.fonda.org <<

[Honesty Faythe Fonda was born Oct. 16, 2003, to Elbie, Sr. and Betty Fonda of Blytheville. Honesty was a very bright young lady. She was a sophomore at Blytheville High School and was very active in sports. She loved basketball and volleyball. She was also very outgoing in all aspects of life. She loved riding her dirt bike with friends and spending time with her family and friends. She was loved and cherished by all who knew her. Honesty loved God and started church at an early age. Honesty leaves this earth blessed with the knowledge that she had two loving parents to cherish and protect her precious memories and who will keep her alive in their hearts. We, as her family and friends, will never understand why she had to leave us so soon, but God had plans for Honesty so He called her home. Honesty left this earth for her heavenly home, Thursday, April 9, 2020. She leaves to cherish her memory, her parents, Elbie and Betty Fonda of Blytheville; two grandmothers, Ernestine Wilbourn of Chicago, Ill., and Berter May Joyner (Myers) of Blytheville; one sister, Brittaney Fonda; three brothers, Deonte, Jimmy and Elbie Fonda Jr., all of Caruthersville, Mo.; two special friends, Kaleb Mouser of Blytheville and Darreonau Forman of Steele, Mo.; and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins, aunties, uncles and friends. Honesty's loving family that preceded her in death were her great-grandmothers, Maggie Lue Walker and Rosie Lee Fonda, her great-grandfather, Cassie Meyers, and grandfathers, Eddie B. Joyner, Jr. and Coot Lee Smith. Services were held April 18 at Powell Funeral Home in Steele with interment at Morgan Ridge Cemetery in Caruthersville. Pallbeareres were Donte Wilbourn, Shawn Kinnon, Vontae Cooper, Terry Stringer, Victor Cork and Luke Ward. Honorary pallbearers were Kenneth Taylor, Aaron Borders, Terrence Davis, Deonte Fonda, Tony Haynes, Charles Oliver, Lee Fonda, Bobby Joyner, Elbie Fonda, Sr., Jimmy Fonda and Tony Wilbourn. Powell Funeral Home was charge of services.]

Via Meucci, 61 - 40024 Castel San Pietro Terme - Bologna]; [RECITAL: JEAN FONDA, PIANIST By BERNARD HOLLAND Published: May 10, 1985 The disappointments of Jean Fonda's recital at the 92d Street Y Wednesday night did not lie in his competence as a pianist - although in Beethoven's Sonata (Op. 110) and the Schumann "Symphonic Etudes" Mr. Fonda often seemed clutching on for dear life rather than holding technical problems firmly in hand. What really disturbed was this French pianist's distance from his material. Mr. Fonda seemed to solve every problem with his head rather than his heart. The resulting music-making was admirably free of excess or extraneous gesture, but its harshness of timbre and cool problem-solving gave the impression of a man almost embarrassed by the beauty of his material. Despite the muddled pedaling both in the Bach transcription at the beginning and the Schumann at the end, the other music - two Chopin Nocturnes and another by Marcel Clairmont -were efficiently laid out. Here, however, restraint and symmetry seemed not tools toward something more important but ends in themselves. Mr. Fonda's playing had a certain amount of taste (despite those strange Luftpausen in the final Schumann variation), but taste without passion may even be more depressing than none at all.] >> www.fonda.org <<

[Nassau Hair Stylist Wins National Popularity on TV - The atmosphere in the Valley Stream home of John Fonda, noted New York hair stylist, is in sharp contrast to the hubbub of his New York city salon, situated in the heart of the theatrical district opposite Radio City. Although only 28, Fonda is well-established with the great and near-great of the metropolitan arra and the Average Housewife from the suburbs. All America awaits his annual selection of

"The Ten Best Heads of Hair for the Year." His originality in creating hair styles and his pleasing radio personality have resulted in a popular demand for his appearance on television programs. Appearing on eight or nine programs, including the Wendy Barrie, Home Makers and Home Guide programs, Fonda is becoming a familiar figure to video audiences. "I designed Miss Barrie's hair-do especially for her," Fonda said. Fonda also writes articles for numerous trade magazines and periodicals. Current articles of his appeared in the April issue ot "American Hairdresser" and the May issue of "The Modern Beauty Shop." One wall of the salon is plastered with newspaper and magazine clippings and press pictures concerning Fonda. Recognition in the form of major awards and assignments has come to him frequently. Although he possesses many awards, he particularly cherishes "the grand prize at the 1947 International Beauty show, the biggest prize a hairdresser can possibly get," says Fonda, pointing out that "the competition is keen, as contestants come from all over the world." Until Fonda's brother, Vincent, exhibits his oil, water color and panel paintings this Fall on 57th street, his art work lines the blue-gray wails of Fonda's salon. An art teacher in Italy, Vincent arrived in this country six months ago. Art lovers visit the salon to view his work. At present, after a customer emerges from Johh Fonda's expert ministrations, she "sits" for a portrait done by Vincent, at no additional charge. John Fonda has three daughters, aged 6, 3 and 1. Nassau Daily Review Star, Monday, May 1, 1950.]

[Stylist Singes Split Hair - Women are often not aware that their normal hair care procedure can cause ends to become brittle and split, according to hair stylist John Fonda. Mr. Fonda maintains that split ends can be caused by nightly setting of the hair when damp, failure to have hair periodically shaped and trimmed, or from a pony tail or French twist. The stylist introduced recently a remedy for split ends that may sound almost medieval but is most modern in effect. Taking a lighted candle, he singes the ends of the hair. This, he says, seals the split filament of hair that has allowed all the natural oils to escape. The oils are thus retained so that each strand becomes soft and pliable once more and stronger, giving the hair more body. A shampoo and oil treatment afterward removes the burnt ends. Mr. Fonda also believes in blunt cutting rather than the more gradual shearing, which, he says, scrapes the hair, which weakens it, thus making it more likely to split. At home, a woman should be sure to have a clean, natural bristle brush and comb and groom herself with daily brush sessions five to ten minutes, Mr. Fonda says. He also recommends weekly shampoos and monthly shaping to prevent split ends. New York Times, Feb 20, 1961]

[Joseph Fonda, 40, of Catsklll, was believed dying at a Glens Falls hospital Friday night as a result of a shooting the night before at Whitehall. Police said Fonda had eloped some months ago wth Mary Capute, 17, sister of Andrew Capute, who is one ot three men arrested on an assault charge for shooting Fonda. Fonda was shot while concealed under a porch of the Capute home. He had refused to come out when ordered by Guy La May, a patrolman, to do so. La May fired one shot and Capute said he fired two shots. Fonda had a gun in his possession when dragged from under the porch. Stamford NY Stamford Mirror, Thursday, June 7, 1928]

[Joseph Fonda of Catskill, who has been in the Glens Falls Hospital since May 31, on which date he was shot in the head and ribs at Whitehall, is recovering, but will be totally blind, according to Dr. Nelson R. Frasier, attending physician. Fonda lived for a time in Watervllet with a Whitehall girl, whom he married and over whom he is believed to have been shot. Andrew Capute, father of the girl; Louis Barretti and Patrolman Guy LeMay, of Whitehall, are held on charges of first degree assault in connection with the shooting, their hearing having been adjourned pending the outcome of Fonda's injuries. The man was found under the porch of the Capute home, where he had concealed himself, waiting for an opportunity to see the girl, who had been taken from him by her people. Dr. Frasier said today that the bullet which shattered Fonda's ribs had been removed and it is believed it will be used as a means of identifying the person who fired the shot. None of the men held admit connection with the shooting. Troy NY Times, June 20, 1928]

[.. Fonda is alleged to have eloped with Mary Capute, 17 years old, of Whitehall about a year ago and the couple lived in Watervliet until last Wednesday, when relatives located her and returned her to Whitehall. A child was born to the girl that night, police said. They claim Fonda has a wife and family in Italy. A 32 caliber automatic revolver, containing two empty shells, was found on Andrew Capute, brother of the girl, and he, together with Louis Barrett, brother-in-law, are being held pending investigations. Fonda had followed the girl to Whitehall and, police say. had camped under the Capute home porch for the last two days, awaiting an opportunity to see the girl... Troy NY Times, June 1, 1928]

[Blind Victim of Whitehall Shooting Opens Newsstand in South Street - Joseph Fonda, Wounded Under Porch of House in Washington County Village May 29, 1928, Able to Establish Small Business Through Generosity of Glens Falls Man - Joseph Fonda, of Catskill, blinded when shot in the head in Whitehall on May 29, 1928, has opened a cigar and news stand in a former popcorn wagon in front of the Empire hotel at 17 South street Fonda, who has been befriended by the Tri-County Association of the Blind since he left the Glens Falls hospital after the shooting, was set up in business through the generosity of a Glens Falls man who contributed the_money. His stock consists of cigars, cigarettes, tobacco, newspapers and magazines. Fonda was shot in the head while under a porch in Whitehall. Three persons were arrested in connection with the shooting, but none was convicted. He was made totally blind by the bullet, which struck him in the side of the head near the left eye. The Tri-County Association of the Blind, through Miss H. Bertha Larkin, executive secretary, became interested in his case and assisted him in every way possible. The wife of a prominent Glens Falls man was a patient in the hospital while Fonda was receiving treatment there, and touched by his plight she offered to contribute $1 a week to him for a year. Her husband offered him $5 a week for the same period. The latter made his first payment in the form of a check for $100, and with this money Fonda was able to start the little business which his friends hope will be successful, as it is one of the few means by which a blind person may obtain a livelihood. This book is full of specific insights into a specific place. It possesses both truth and charm, which is a rare combination in today's world. It will both enlighten and entertain. Buy it. Read it. Think and ponder universal truths."-Alistair MacLeod - Nick Fonda has worked as a lumberjack, farmer, carpenter, restaurateur, and raconteur. He has also squeezed in a career as a teacher, both in the UK and Canada, and as a journalist and writer. He lives in Richmond, Quebec. http://www.barakabooks.com/catalogue/roads-to-richmond/]; [Sadly, bullying is a fact of life - but most of us will survive and thrive - By Nick Fonda, The Gazette January 10, 2012 - My first memory of being bullied goes back to Grade 3. The exact details are blurred beyond recall - or perhaps purged; our bodies do much self-healing without our being at all aware of the process. All that is left of that early experience is an image of me in the middle of a class of 8-year-olds, fearful and in tears. What came before and what came after, I do not recall. (...) In the course of writing about bullying, I found that I was no more successful than the creators of Superman in coming up with a blueprint for dealing with bullies. There is no simple, universal solution. Fighting back can be as dangerous as running away. The majority of the stories I have heard about bullying have led me to believe that, with luck, most of us will outgrow our bullies. If the stories have a moral, it might be: survive today to thrive tomorrow. Nick Fonda of Richmond taught high school and elementary school in the Eastern Townships for more than a quarter of a century. He is also a journalist and author, most recently of Principals and Other Schoolyard Bullies, a book of short stories published by Baraka Books. [http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Pavel_Fonda - Pavel Fonda (born September 22, 1942), is a psychiatrist, psychotherapist and a notable member of Slovene minority in Italy.[1] He was a mayor of Nabreina local community from 1984-1985 in the Province of Trieste, Italy. He was born to father Manuset Fonda, a Trieste merchant, and mother Diomira Budal, who were living in a southern part of Trieste in Servola (in Slovene: kedenj). After finishing the elementary and high school with the Slovene language as language of instruction, he studied medicine at the University of Padua. In 1968, he specialized in psychiatry in Milano, Italy where he had taught for a year at the local university. In 1970, he moved from Milano to Trieste and worked in local hospital. He was also running the Nabreina center for mental health. After 1990, he served as an International Psychoanalytical Association's trainer for the trainees in psychoanalysis from Slovenia and Croatia, until the local branch of the Sigmund Freud University Vienna was opened in Slovenia. 2007 Psycho-grammes at the Border (in Slovene: Obmejni psihogrami). res. Radovljica, SLV; birthdate estimated; https://www.facebook.com/poli.trapez; [Polona is a graphic designer from Slovenia whose goal is to combine her love of sports and art. Her athletic journey began at the age of 6, when she spent most of her time on glaciers training Alpine skiing. Through physical preparation for skiing she experienced a wide variety of sports, everything from lifting weights in the gym and climbing to river cayak and mountain biking. Two years ago she found CrossFit, but eventually chose to focus solely on Olympic weightling. http://www.boxrox.com/scene/author/polona-fonda/] >> www.fonda.org <<

Art Curator; [http://www.aplusa.it/eng/home.html The A+A gallery is a non-profit exhibition space, a centre for the promotion of contemporary Slovenian and international art, financed by the Slovenian Ministry of Culture. The gallery first opened its doors ten years ago in Madrid, inside a space cleverly restored by the architect Boris Podrecca. After five years of frenetic activity, coordinated by Lidija Sercelj, the gallery moved to Venice where, in addition to hosting temporary exhibitions, it is also the site of the Slovenian pavilion for each Biennale. Aurora Fonda is the present director of the gallery. As part of its exhibition programme the gallery hopes to establish a network of contacts between civic and foreign institutions with the aim of organising round tables, performances and video projections, thus offering a panoramic view of today's artistic expression and becoming a point of meeting and exchange, fundamental for knowledge of the present.] >> www.fonda.org <<

Then known as Frieda Fonda, she became a national sensation when she won the "Body Language" contest at the popular TV noontime show "Eat Bulaga!" In 1991, she was accepted at a dental specialty program in the United States. Arriving in August that year, she took her Master of Science in prosthodontics-a dental specialty in implants, reconstructive and aesthetic dentistryat Marquette University School of Dentistry in Milwaukee, WI. Finishing in 1994, Frieda said, "I realized that the level of education in dentistry is very different here than in our homeland, so I decided to study dentistry all over again, at Loma Linda University School of Dentistry in Southern California, from 1994 to 1995." In 1999, she established the Brookshire Dental Center in Tustin, taking over a clinic from a prosthodontist who retired that year. She also had her brother, Frederick Von Giese, as manager of the clinic.]; [pinoydvd.com/board/ Re:Favorite Sitcoms? << Reply #51 on: May 24, 2003 >> Quote from: Mr. Hankey on May 24, 2003 at 01:07 AM - Ahh... Frieda Fonda and "Body Language". (...) Ah yes, whatever happened to Frieda, Jane and Peter's long lost sister. Me and my friends used to speculate about that. Even had an idea on doing a short film documentary entitled "In Search of Frieda Fonda". The kicker was the possibility that she ended up as some itinerant bus preacher, and if we ever did that movie and found her, we'd have to end it with Frieda giving a five minute talk about the joys of having found god and religion in her life. Grin. But seriously, whatever happened to her? Even Google is silent. (...) I never let a mystery go unsolved, even if it takes me over a year: Frieda married a foreigner. She went back to school, got her degree, and now has a very successful dental practice in New Jersey. She last visited the Philippines about two years ago. But her "Body Language" figure was allegedly a lot more full.] [http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/User:Bluemask/Filipino_actors]>> www.fonda.org <<

Hong Kong, China; [46 shoppers hurt in Hong Kong acid attack - Dec 14, 2008 - HONG KONG (AFP) - Hong Kong police were investigating Sunday after dozens of Christmas shoppers were burned by bottles of acid hurled from a high-rise building on to one of the city's busiest streets, a report said. Police said 46 people were injured in a deliberate attack as two large plastic bottles of liquid crashed to the ground in the teeming Mong Kok district at about 5:00 pm on Saturday, the Sunday Morning Post reported. Witnesses said the victims screamed out and rushed to find water to wash off the liquid, which burned holes in their clothes and damaged their skin, the report said. "A bottle came down," one man told the English-language paper. "It looked like an ordinary bottle of water, and the crowd began to disperse. Then I saw people with red faces and eyes in pain." All 46 victims had been released from hospital by the end of Saturday, the report said. Police said they searched the building where the bottles appeared to be thrown from, but had not arrested any suspects. "Traces of caustic liquid were left on the ground," police superintendent Annie Fonda told the newspaper. "Judging by the traces and the positions of the two bottles, this is not an accident. We believe someone intentionally hurled them from a height." http://www.todayonline.com/articles/292461.asp]; [Mong Kok scores for efficiency and for the environment - Service Quality is also about increasing efficiency of processes. It used to take the Mong Kok District Property Office more than 50 man-hours per month to dispose of obscene VCDs. Recognising that, in addition to being a drain on resources, the dumping of discs was also a threat to the environment, Property Office staff and their supervisors Chief Inspector Annie Fonda and Senior Inspector Philip Kwok went to the Environmental Protection Department for assistance. The results were striking. A private contractor now visits the Station where, under supervision, holes are drilled in the discs to render them unusable. Then, at no cost to Government, the contractor removes the discs for recycling, saving the Force more than $10,000 every month. http://www.police.gov.hk/offbeat/765/eng/p01.htm] >> www.fonda.org <<

[Aldo passed away surrounded by family after a valiant 2 year struggle with cancer. Beloved son of Pietro & Eleonora Fonda, born in Pirano, Italy. Aldo was a graduate of Sacred Heart High School and went on to earn a Bachelor's Degree from State College. He served his Country in the Vietnam War, he saved his buddies numerous times and was decorated for his bravery & dedication to ensuring his fellow soldiers made it out alive. Retired from the U. S. Postal Service after more than 35 years as a letter carrier. Aldo was an avid Poet and Musician. He enjoyed attending poetry readings, flea markets and puttering in his garden cultivating his grapes. Aldo was very proud of his family and his Italian heritage. He is survived by his parents, brothers Fulvio (Sandy), Massimo (Rose), sister Angela (Ronnie), nieces and nephews, Sara, Marie, Amy, Peter, Nicole, Natalie, Claudia & Bianca, along with many great nieces and nephews. Aldo will be remembered by his family & friends for the lasting impression he made upon them, through his poetry, his opinions & strong willed nature. Aldo is a hero and will be sorely missed. A warrior who passed too soon and fought the brave fight. We will miss you always and forever. Friends may visit after 5pm Friday and are invited to attend the Rosary Friday September 28th at 6pm at the chapels of Valente Marini Perata & Co.]

[Reproduced at the National Archives - Prepared 30 April 1946 - The President of the United States takes pride in presenting the NAVY AND MARINE CORPS MEDAL to LIEUTENANT FREDERICK ANTHONY FONDA UNITED STATES NAVAL RESERVE for service as set forth in the following CITATION: "For heroic conduct while serving on the U.S.S. GREENE, November 9, 1945. In charge of a working party removing ammunition from the after handling room during the decommissioning of the U.S.S. GREENE subsequent to her grounding in Buckner Bay, Okinawa, Lieutenant Fonda courageously entered a gas-filled compartment and, despite the danger from deadly fumes, undertook the rescue of three of his men overcome by gas, and persisted in his voluntary task until he himself was stricken. Lieutenant Fonda's outstanding loyalty to his men and his devotion to duty were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service. He gallantly gave his life for others." For the President, James Forrestal, Secretary of the Navy]

[Anton (Tony) Fonda, beloved husband, father and Nonno passed away peacefully on December 18, 2000 at St. Boniface Hospital. He will be sadly missed by his wife, Ivana; son Henry (Torrie); grandchildren, Tereza, Yolanda, and Sawyer of Kelowna, B.C. and daughter Milena Bukal (Miro) grandchildren, Anastasia and Alexander; sister, Slavka Svetina (Ivan), Anica Frankovic of Slovenija and Zora Fonda of Australia and many nieces and nephews. Tony was predeceased by his parents, Frances and Anton; brother Franz and sister Frances Hoffman. Tony was born on January 18, 1918 in Davis, West Virginia and shortly thereafter his family moved back to Italy. During the Second World War, he served in the Italian Army in Libya. Upon his return home, not willing to live under the communist regime in Slovenia, he left his homeland and spent several years in a refugee camp, in Italy. There he met his future wife, Ivana Mohoric and both immigrated to Canada where they were married in Winnipeg in 1950. For 35 years, Tony worked at the Maple Leaf Flour Mill in St. Boniface and retired in 1985. He also was an active member of the Slovenian Parish community of Our Lady of Lourdes Roman Catholic Church until his illness. During his retirement he spent many happy hours in his garden and enjoying visits from his family. Nonno and Nonna recently celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary on November 11, 2000 at the Family Room on 5E, St. Boniface Hospital with a few family and friends. The family wishes to thank the Home Care workers, who made it possible for him to remain at home during his illness, as well as the staff of 5E, St. Boniface Hospital. The family expresses their gratitude to family and friends for their care and support and especially the Sisters of Mother Teresa for their prayers and special visits. Prayers will be said on Saturday, December 23 at 10:00 a.m. at Our Lady of Lourdes Roman Catholic Church, 95 MacDonald Ave. Mass of Christian Burial will follow at 10:30 a.m. also at the Church with Rev. Fr. Paul Hancko officiating. Interment will follow in Green Acres Cemetery. Honorary Pallbearers will be brothers-in-law Emil Mohoric and Anton Jasnic and longtime friend Slavko Slejko. Pallbearers will be his nieces Anita and Lydia Mohoric, their husbands Wayne Copet and Richard Iwuk, nephew Emil Mohoric Jr. and Mario Poklar. Flowers gratefully declined, if friends so desire, donations may be made in Tonys memory to Missionaries of Charity. As published in the Winnipeg Free Press on Dec 21, 2000]

[Obituary: Bertha Fondy - Doll maker, mother of late union chief - March 26, 1914-Jan. 6, 2008 - January 12, 2008 - By Gary Rotstein Pittsburgh Post-Gazette - Bertha "Bernadette" Fondy, a doll maker and the mother of one of Pittsburgh's major union figures, died Sunday at St. Anne Home in Greensburg. The former Brookline resident, who was 93, had spent the past decade in nursing homes. Mrs. Fondy was a strong-willed woman who made a business out of her doll-making abilities for half a century, starting in the 1940s, a decade when she wore slacks regularly long before it was common for women. She raised three children as a single mother after splitting from her husband. She also worked hard as a cook and cafeteria manager to support them. Her oldest child, Albert Fondy, was a forceful personality himself; he died in 2005 after serving 15 terms as president of the Pittsburgh

Federation of Teachers. Originally from a large Italian family in Overbrook, Mrs. Fondy first put her seamstress abilities to use making school uniforms, doing business as Fondy Blouse Co. in Greenfield during World War II. After changing to the doll industry in locations on the South Side and from her Brookline home, she operated as Bernadette Creations and Fondy's Doll Hospital. She made her own dolls and dolls' wardrobes -- many of them in ethnic styles representing various nationalities -- for wholesale distribution and for sale at craft fairs throughout the region. Mrs. Fondy also become well-known for repairing dolls in her 10th Street store and in her neighborhood. Her second son, Tom Fondy of Syracuse, N.Y., said his mother's "interesting and unusual type of job skill" made her popular for news media interviews during holidays. Her LaRose Street home was full of dolls missing limbs, eyes or other parts that she would re-create. One room featured a display of injuries that spooked her granddaughter, Lynn Acquafondata of Mt. Lebanon, as a young girl. But Ms. Acquafondata said she also was fascinated in watching Mrs. Fondy manufacture dolls using a kiln in her basement, and she obtained a special visit to the set of "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood" because Mrs. Fondy sewed some of the puppets' clothes for the TV program. Mrs. Fondy also is survived by a daughter, Bernadette Fondy of Greensburg, three other grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren. The funeral was yesterday. Memorial contributions may be made to the Albert and Thomas Fondy Experimental Cancer Chemotherapy Fund, Department of Biology, Syracuse University, Syracuse, NY 13224.]

[Christine Marie Fonda, 63, of Milton, passed away December 21, 2020, at home. She was born December 21, 1957, in Elgin, Illinois, a daughter of the late Frank Fonda and Grace Desantis Dwyer. She was an employee of US Army Corps of Engineers for 45 years and a member of River Cities Church. She never met a stranger, striking up a conversation with anybody, anytime, with a big smile. Even the Governor of West Virginia (John D. Rockefeller IV) was not a stranger as she met him, too. She rubbed elbows with Generals of the Corps of Engineers as well. She loved watching and going to Marshall University sporting events, bowling and playing marbles with her family. She saw the world through a child's eye, accepting you as you are. The world was a much better place with her in it. She is survived by her stepmother, Wilma Fonda of Huntington; two sisters and brother-in-law, Theresa and Gary Chapman of Kenova and Lisa Dwyer of Algonquin, Illinois; two brothers and sister-in-law, Jeffrey and Brenda Fonda of Charlotte and David Fonda of Winchester, Ky.; two nephews, Jack Fonda of Austin, TX, and Eric Vahovick of Ceredo; one great-niece, Scarlett Vahovick; and one great-nephew, Zeke Workman. Services were private. Burial was in White Chapel Memorial Gardens, Barboursville. Wallace Funeral Home, Barboursville, assisted the family with arrangements.]

My all time favorite thing to do is hang out with my twin sister Nicole. We like to shop, have barbeques, and go to the beach. I also have a younger sister, Claudia, who is 17 years old and a senior at Kahuku High School. Well all live in Ka'a'awa with my dad, Fulvio Fonda, and my Step mother, Sandy. She has two boys, Chris who is 20 and Ryan who is also 17. We have a dog, Trudy, and she is half chow-chow and half Labrador. I currently take kick boxing classes and the Smith Tae Kwon Do center in Kaneohe. I think everyone should stay healthy by exercising and eating right. I work out there twice a week and learn to kick butt. (If you check out my gallery you'll see that isn't true, I normally get my butt kicked!) My most recent accomplishment to date has been getting my real estate license. I work for a company called Fidelity Properties in Kaneohe. I like real estate because you are your own boss and you can work as much and as little as you want. I also like seeing so many interesting housing. I plan to make real estate my career. I am also earning my associate of Art at Windward Community College (WCC).] >> www.fonda.org <<

[George J. Fonda, age 73, died May 3, 2005, in his home after a courageous battle with pancreatic cancer. He was the loving husband of Nora (nee O'Sullivan), father of Ellen (Tom) Kelly, Diane (Jerry) Gannon, Laura (Bill) Coffey, brother of Marie and Alex, brother-in-law of Pat (Jack) Butler and Catherine Hagan, grandfather of Julie, Katie, Kerri, Jimmy, Billy, Bobby, John, Chris and Matt, great-grandfather of Joseph and Emily. George was born in Lodi, NJ. He was a graduate of Stuyvesant H.S. in NYC. George retired from the USAF. He was proud to be a Korean War Veteran and was an active member of the KWVA chapter in New City, NY. He also retired from the NYS Liquor Authority. George loved music. For many years, he played bass at all kinds of affairs. George was much loved and will be greatly missed by all who knew him, especially by his wife and family. His family would especially like to thank Calvary Hospice for their care and comfort. He will be reposing at Farenga Brothers, Inc. on Thursday and Friday 2-4 and 7-9 pm. Mass of the Resurrection will be at 10 am Saturday, May 7 at Holy Rosary Church, 1510 Adee Ave., corner of Eastchester and Gun Hill Rd, Bronx, NY.]

MCK Springvale Cemetery, Victoria, AUS; [Mosek, 46, who moved to Israel from Melbourne 20 years ago, got the idea to set up the factory 18 months ago when Australian philanthropists Sara and Victor Fonda offered to donate equipment from a defunct Australian nonprofit which promoted handicrafts. An industrial cutting machine, a photocopier and 2,000 boxes of material, buttons, ribbons and handicraft material arrived in three shipments and the SAVI factory - named after Sara and Victor Fonda - was established under the umbrella of CLICK. The couple also pays the salary of two part-time handicraft teachers and the factory's rent is paid by the Australian-based Pratt Family Foundation. Almost a year into its operation, Mosek says that the initial seed money from the "social investors" has yet to be recouped, as is the case of many small businesses in their early stages. "We see ourselves as a start-up," says Mosek. "The growth strategy for 2005 is to be less dependent on the social investors by increasing sales and reducing expenses."] [Founder of http://www.recyclingisfun.com.au] >> www.fonda.org <<

[Hamden, CT - (From North Haven Funeral Home) Beloved Husband, Father, and Grandfather, Albert Joseph Fonda peacefully passed away on July 30, 2020 in Hamden, Connecticut. Al was born in New Haven, Connecticut to parents Louis and Anna Fonda on February 10, 1950. He went to school in New Haven, CT. He married the love of his life Sandy Fonda on August 31, 1973 in Stratford, CT. Al worked for over 40 years in the heating and cooling industry, and for many years he owned his own company doing what he loved. Sandy and Al built a wonderful life together that she will forever cherish. During the last 10 years, Al battled an illness, and Sandy was by his side as a wife, best friend, and caretaker. Al was a devoted father and avid outdoorsman who enjoyed both hunting and fishing with his sons. Both sons, Al and Mike spend countless hours reminiscing of their childhood and all the things their father taught them. Al loved horses and dogs, he owned and cared for many throughout his life. He also enjoyed spending time on his motorcycles and taking his Corvette out on a beautiful day. He is survived by his loving wife Sandra Fonda of Hamden, CT; son Albert Fonda, daughter-in-law Jessica Fonda, and precious granddaughter Liliana Fonda of Hamden, CT; son Michael Fonda; brother Anthony Fonda and sister-in-law Lois Fonda of Northford, CT; brother John Fonda of Westbrook, CT; brother Ralph Fonda of Bethany, CT; mother-in-law Mary Harper of West Palm Beach, FL; sister-in-law Karen Rodgers and brother-in-law David Rodgers of Pompano Beach, FL; and many nieces and nephews he adored. Al is predeceased by his mother Ann Fonda; Father Louis Fonda; sister Lucia Friello; brother Louis Fonda; sister Maryanne Rusate; sister-in-law Charlene Fonda; father-in-law Howard Harper. The Fonda family wishes to extend their sincerest thanks to all the staff at Whitney Manor for their compassionate love and care they gave to Al and the kindness they have shown. He has been elected fifteen times by the PFT membership over a span now of 37 years. He taught high school mathematics for 8 years, all but one of those years at Carrick High School in Pittsburgh]

[Obituary: Al Fondy - Teachers union president - Headed both city, state organizations - Thursday, May 19, 2005 - Al Fondy, president of the Pittsburgh Federation of Teachers for 38 years, died yesterday of cancer at ManorCare Health Services in Green Tree after a lengthy illness. He was 69. In February 2003 Al Fondy participated in an extended recorded interview with reporter Carmen Lee as part of the Post-Gazette's Legacy Project, an initiative designed to give prominent Pittsburghers the opportunity to recount the past in their own voice. Here are excerpts from that interview: (..) One of the reasons he kept working as union president for so long, Fondy says, is the importance of continutity for strong union leadership. He had spent most of his final months between his Banksville home and West Penn Hospital. Mr. Fondy, who also was president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Teachers, believed in public education as a way to unify society. (..) He attended St. Joseph Academy Elementary School of Pittsburgh, Central Catholic High School and Duquesne University, where he earned a bachelor's degree in 1958 and an education certificate in 1959. Mr. Fondy didn't grow up wanting to be a teacher. He switched from a pre-med program to a math major and earned a teaching certificate after graduation. In college, he started working at Mesta Machine Co. in West Homestead in the same job his father had, a layout man in the machine shop. When he was laid off at Mesta and playing golf, his mother, Bertha, now of Monroeville, said, "You think you're going to sit around here. You're not. You're going to take a job." So in the fall of 1959, he took his first teaching job -- math for seventh through 12th grades -- in Trafford for $4,200 a year. At the end of the year, he asked for a raise. He didn't get it. (..) Mr. Fondy lost the first time he ran for union president in 1965 but won in 1967 and had served steadily ever since. The union was small at first -- about 300 members -- but grew to about 1,000 of the district's more than 3,800 teachers by the time of its first strike in 1968. That strike was to win the right for representation. The union now has more than 3,900 members. Mr. Fondy credited former state House Speaker K. Leroy Irvis for helping school board members realize they had to talk with the new union. The union and the city school district reached their first agreement in 1969. Mr. Fondy was the chief negotiator for 28 labor agreements for the teachers as well as for paraprofessionals, technical-clerical workers and the Pittsburgh Intermediate Unit. (..) Mr. Fondy's ability to win respect was noted by James Weaver, president of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, who called Mr. Fondy "an icon of labor unions in Pennsylvania public education." "Al made many friends throughout his career," Weaver said, "but even those he didn't win over respected his determination and his skill as a negotiator, a lobbyist and above all a spokesman for public schools and the men and women who work there." Mr. Fondy was already ill during the 2003 negotiations, but Campbell said he showed "incredible energy." Mr. Fondy's brother, Thomas of Syracuse, N.Y., later donated stem cells, and Mr. Fondy improved for a period of time. Last year, he marched in the Labor Day parade before his health worsened. A booster of stem cells from his brother was unsuccessful in reversing his illness. Mr. Fondy and his wife, Vivian, were married for 36 years. He spoke proudly of the accomplishments of their now-grown daughter, Jessica, of the Arlington section of Pittsburgh, a valedictorian of Brashear High School and graduate of Wesleyan University. Mr. Fondy traveled to meetings -- he was a vice president of the American Federation of Teachers and vice president of the Pennsylvania AFL-CIO -- but he typically didn't go on vacations. (..) In addition to his wife, daughter, mother and brother, Mr. Fondy is survived by a sister, Bernadette, of Greensburg. Friends will be received from 2 to 5 and 6 to 9 p.m. Monday and Tuesday at the William Slater II Funeral Home, 1650 Greentree Road, Scott. The funeral service and burial will be private. A public memorial service will be announced at a later date. The family suggests contributions to the union's QuEST Scholarship Fund -- which stands for Quality Education Standards in Teaching and is for city students planning to become teachers -- at union headquarters, 10 S. 19th St., Pittsburgh 15203. For those of you who are new to MSU let me give you a brief rundown of this talented young man's credentials! David Fonda is a native of Huntington, West Virginia. He is a Senior Music Education major with his primary instrument being clarinet. David is four-year member of both the MSU Symphony Band and the KMEA Intercollegiate Band. Before attending MSU, David attended Marshall University where he received color guard training from alumni of the Madison Scouts and the Cadets. A nine-year color guard veteran, David's expertise in guard has presented him with opportunities to teach in WV, KY and OH. In addition to his teaching abilities David is an outstanding performer and has also performed with Onyx Winterguard of Dayton, OH. During his membership the ensemble obtained world finalist status in the open class. David is also a freelance dancer/choreographer performing in venues beyond the color guard realm including dance recitals, dance competitions, pageants and other performances areas. During the winter of 2003-2004 David created an Independent Winterguard at MSU. Expressions earned the Bronze medal at the Tri State Circuit Winterguard Championships. Quite a feat for a newly established unit! David is in demand as a guard adjudicator and has judged band competitions in WV and KY. We are delighted that David is returning to the MSU Marching Band staff and we look forward to another great season of growth for the MSU Color Guard.] >> www.fonda.org <<

[Herald Sun - 17apr06 - Hospital Fall Risk - Falls are the leading cause of injury in Australian hospitals. And being in hospital increases the risk of falling through the confusion caused by a new environment, medication affecting balance and acute illness, a Melbourne study, published in the latest issue of the Medical Journal of Australia, has found. Of all the incidents in hospitals, 38 per cent -- nearly two in five -- are related to falls. The study estimates each serious injury fall adds about $15,000 to a patient's costs, with the annual cost topping $2 billion nationally. But help is at hand. The study, led by Associate Professor David Fonda, director of aged care at Caulfield General Medical Centre, incorporated a falls prevention program into the aged care services wards of that hospital.] >> www.fonda.org <<

[Couple brawl with 1-year-old in car, then crash into oncoming traffic - December 14, 2010 - Middletown, CT - A city couple was arrested Monday after a fight in their car apparently caused an accident on Washington Street. Stephanie Ramirez, 29, allegedly scratched and kicked at her boyfriend while he drove eastbound on Washington Street. As a result of the assault, he swerved into oncoming traffic and crashed into another vehicle, police said. The crash occurred near Butternut Street around 5 p.m., police said, and there were no reported injuries. Ramirez was charged with disorderly conduct and third-degree assault. She was also charged with risk of injury to a minor because the couple's 1-year-old child was in the back of the car in a car seat, police said. Ramirez told police her live-in boyfriend, David Fonda, 27, had punched her, but police found no evidence of her having been hit, according to the arrest report. Fonda was charged with disorderly conduct and interfering with an officer after he became disruptive when he found out Ramirez was being arrested. The couple was arraigned Tuesday afternoon in Middletown Superior Court. Judge Lisa Morgan issued a partial protective order between the couple and ordered they cooperate with the Department of Children and Families. The couple has been in trouble with the law before. Ramirez was arrested on numerous counts of forgery, larceny and conspiracy charges in December of 2009. The charges stem from incidents that took place in late spring and early summer when she and Fonda cashed checks Fonda had stolen from his employer, police said. Clinton police began an investigation after the victims noticed abnormalities in their checking account and called authorities. Police were able to identify Fonda and Ramirez because they used their own IDs to cash the stolen checks, police said. Fonda was also charged and received 60 days in jail, according to court records. Ramirez's cases are pending. http://www.middletownpress.com/articles/2010/12/14/news/doc4d07e31b2eae3905757803.txt]

[Convicted felon charged with assault in Middletown - Friday, June 24, 2011 - Middletown,

CT - A convicted felon was taken into custody Tuesday after an encounter with a woman who he is legally barred from having contact with. Police had to force their way into an apartment on William Street after a caller told police they heard a female crying and saying, "get off of me." Officers found the suspect, 27-year-old David Fonda, in a locked room along with the victim and their young child. Fonda would later tell police he attempted to keep police out of the apartment because he knew he was in violation of a protective order and would be arrested. The victim refused to give police a statement but did say Fonda had grabbed her arm and wouldn't get away from her. A witness told police he heard the victim say her arm was hurting and later heard her crying. Police said the woman's arm showed various bruises. Fonda was charged with disorderly conduct, violation of a protective order and interfering with police. Fonda was charged with third-degree assault, risk of injury to a minor and breach of peace, in May, following a disturbance outside his home. A woman told police that Fonda punched and pushed her. Fonda's girlfriend tried to break up the fight while holding a one-year-old child, police said. Fonda reportedly kept pushing his girlfriend in an attempt to get to the victim, according to the arrest report. Fonda was also arrested this past December for fighting with his girlfriend while driving as a young child was in the back of the car, police said. The suspect is free on $25,000 bond and returns to Middletown Superior Court July 13, at which time he is expected to plead to the latest charges. Fonda has more than 10 convictions for various crimes including credit card theft, reckless driving, drug possession, failure to appear in court and probation violation. He was most recently sentenced to 60 days in jail following a conviction for forgery in December of 2009, according to court records. http://middletownpress.com/articles/2011/06/24/news/doc4e041d9c9ee00727198653.txt]

[New Britain, Conn. (WTNH) - Jun 1, 2021 - Missing 4-year-old boy from Middletown found safe; adults involved in police custody for unrelated charges - A missing boy from Middletown is now safe after an Amber Alert investigation Tuesday. The two adults police say are responsible for the boy's brief disappearance are now in custody, but not for charges stemming from the Amber Alert. Middletown Police were alerted around 3:20 p.m. Tuesday that 4-year-old Armel Muhammed was missing. The child had last seen in New Britain around 9 p.m. Monday. His mother told police he is autistic and that that added to her concern. Armel was left in the care of his uncle, Mario Jenkins. Jenkins left for work and left the child in the care of a family friend, later identified as Stephanie Michelle Fonda, 39. According to police, Fonda took Jenkins' vehicle a blue 2010 Chevy Malibu without permission. It was believed that Fonda was with her husband, David Fonda, 37. Police put out an Amber Alert for the 4-year-old boy and a 39-year-old woman a short time later. David and Stephanie Fonda are both in police custody at this time. The city of New Britain told News 8 that the New Britain police department will not be charging the Fondas at this time. Police are still determining if any illegal activity took place in the city. Stephanie Fonda is being held in Rocky Hill police custody, and David Fonda in Wethersfield police custody, both due to outstanding warrants from those towns unrelated to Tuesday's incident.]

Real Estate Developer [PZC using workshops to flesh out development details - By: Jeff Mill, Press staff - The Middletown Press 7/28/2007 - Portland - The Planning and Zoning Commission is relying on a little-used but much-admired approach to help flesh out the details of a multimillion dollar mixed-use development. The commercial/residential Portland Town Center project has been proposed for the former Elmcrest property by developer Anthony Fonda.

The commission has appointed a subcommittee to work with representatives of Fonda on the project. The sides are meeting in informal workshops to discuss details and various options for the proposed project, which, by some estimates, could cost as much as $40 million. Fonda has proposed building a complex of stores, small shops and mixed types of housing on the 10-acre site on the southeast corner of Main and Marlborough streets. In June, the commission approved an amendment to the zoning regulations that would allow construction of mixed-use developments like the Town Center in certain specified areas. Fonda has not presented a formal plan to the commission; instead, his representatives are meeting with the subcommittee in two scheduled workshops to discuss their options before they submit a formal plan. The first workshop was held this week.] >> www.fonda.org <<
